|--------------------------------|---|--------------------|---|--|---------------|
| Enterprise and Industry | | | | | |
| 11. | Initiative (Commission Delegated Act) on the electronic processing of declarations of performance under the Construction Products Regulation (305/2011/EU) | Legislative | The electronic handling of performance declarations of construction products has been specifically foreseen in the new Construction Products Regulation (305/2011/EU; the CPR), which will come into effect on 1 July 2013. However, this has been dealt with by authorising the Commission to adopt delegated acts on this topic. The current lack of a legal base for these activities causes legal uncertainty and therefore creates an obstacle to the efficient and effective use of ICT for performance declarations. | Industry, in particular manufacturers of construction products, strongly supported a corresponding provision in the original Commission proposal for the new Regulation. For the industry, the electronic handling of performance declarations is a key driver of economies, as has been demonstrated by the e-invoicing developments. It rebalances the fees and charges in such a way that takes into account the costs of the Agency but provides further reductions for SMEs which have less capacity to absorb the costs of REACH compliance than large companies. | The rebalancing of the fees implies further reduction for SMEs: -35%, -65% and -95% in relation to standard fees for registration and -30%, -60% and -90% in relation to standard fees for authorisation activities as compared to the current situation: -30%, -60% and -90% for registration and -20%, -50% and -85% for authorisation. In order to provide enough resources for the Agency to operate, this reduction in the fees and charges for SMEs needs to be compensated with an increase of the standard fees and charges charged to large companies. | 2013 |
