15:00	PEACE event 2013 Bringing Divided Communities Together - Sharing the experience of the EU PEACE Programme	REC 16:9	01:29:57
15:00:10	Project Testimonies "Groundwork NI": - managed two projects focusing on contested physical space, attempting to overcome sectarianism and segregation within local communities in Northern Ireland and the border area. The projects sought to create shared public spots for people from different community and racial backgrounds, jointly deciding local areas for regeneration and transformation into a shared space of reconciliation. As well as providing a practical use for derelict or unused sites, good relationships were built between communities, contributing to a shared vision of peace for the future. Ref-92267 // Commission, Charlemagne building, Brussels //		00:17:42
15:17:52	Project Testimonies "Theatre of Witness": - is a model of performance developed by Teya Sepinuck in 1986 that gives voice to those stories that have not been heard in society. The true life stories of people from diverse backgrounds are performed by people themselves, so that audiences can bear witness to issues of suffering, redemption and reconciliation. Theatre of Witness productions are performed in spoken word, music, movement and cinematic imagery. Some recent Theatre of Witness programmes have brought survivors of violence together with perpetrators and witnesses to explore issues of accountability, healing, guilt, restorative justice, forgiveness and redemption. Ref-92268 // Commission, Charlemagne building, Brussels //		00:31:17
15:49:09	Project Testimonies "Football for All": - is committed to tackling sectarianism and racism through football with a number of grass-root level education measures, such as Working with Irish league clubs to develop Community Relations Plans and facilitating innovative Good Relations workshops. - Working in partnership with community groups, fans and volunteers to develop community driven Football For All initiatives to tackle sectarianism and racism. - Supporting the development of the World United intercultural football project, promoting respect for diversity and developing a World United intercultural workshop for youth and community groups.
