

Rules governing the use by third parties
of the Logo of the 50th Anniversary of the Treaty of Rome

1. The Author of the logo (Mr Szymon Skzypczak) is the sole owner of the logo. The Author has transferred part of his own rights to the European Community for distribution and reproduction purposes.
2. As a result, the Community has acquired, inter alia, the right to reproduce, display and distribute the logo with no restrictions as to the media used and the number of copies produced, in all present and future official European Union languages and without any territorial limitation; together with the right to allow others to do so.
3. Third parties, other than the EU institutions, who wish to make use of the logo in the form and languages authorised by the Community may do so free of charge, as long as the conditions laid down below are fulfilled:
  - The use should not be linked to aims, activities or events incompatible with the principles and objectives of the 50th anniversary of the Treaty of Rome; under no circumstances may the logo be reproduced for illegal ends which are contrary to public decency.
  - The use should not create confusion between the user and the European Union institutions; to this end, no other trademark, service mark, symbol, design or trade name should be used in conjunction with the logo.
  - The use should not be linked to commercial purposes; anyone intending to reproduce the logo as part of his/her activities is authorised to do so on condition that such exploitation is free and does not give rise to any value added for which the citizens of Europe may be charged. The European Communities authorise in particular the reproduction of the logo on any object (coins, stamps etc.) intended to promote the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the signature of the Rome Treaties.
  - The use should be compatible with the existing copyright rules and should not infringe upon the Author's moral or economic rights or upon the rights assigned by the Author to the Community. The use should acknowledge the Author whenever appropriate or requested as well as the European Community copyright as follows:
  - The user undertakes to respect the visual representation of the logo as stipulated in the graphical guidelines available on the European Commission website. No modification is authorized other than these expressly authorized by the European Community.
  - It is understood that the user shall not acquire and shall not claim any title to the logo which is the subject of this authorization.

- The user shall not register or seek to register any trademark or name which contains the logo or which is so similar to the logo as to be likely to cause deception or confusion in any countries of the European Union.
4. Third parties, within the meaning of paragraph 3, are not authorised to use the logo in any commercial or non-profit context which would lead the public to believe that the user or the Author benefits from the authorisation of the European Commission or any other European Institution or body.
  5. The European Community disclaims all warranties, expressed or implied, relating to the validity of the logo and the upholding of intellectual property rights or any other third-party rights including, but not limited to, any implied warranty against infringement of third parties' property rights.
  6. The European Community shall not be liable to the user for any loss or damage whatsoever or however caused arising directly or indirectly in connection with this authorization.
  7. The European Community shall not be liable to third parties for claims which are based on the User's use of the logo and result from acts and omissions of the user.

The Community may, at its own discretion and when it deems appropriate, take any action and procedures necessary against any user who breaches the rules of this agreement.

8. The European Community may terminate this agreement immediately without notice if, in its sole judgment, the user has breached any terms or conditions of this agreement. Upon termination, the user must destroy all materials related to the authorization.
9. This authorization shall be governed by and interpreted in accordance with Belgian Law.
