

Signature of the accession treaty of Croatia to the EU

Type: Best-of Référence: I071884 Durée: 42:21 Lieu: Brussels - Council/Justus Lipsius

On 9 December 2011, Herman Van Rompuy, President of the European Council, Donald Tusk, Polish Prime Minister, José Manuel Barroso, President of the EC, Jerzy Buzek, President of the EP, Ivo Josipovic, President of Croatia, and Jadranka Kosor, Prime Minister of Croatia, participated, in Brussels, in the signature ceremony of the accession treaty of Croatia among the 27 EU heads of state or government. The accession treaty signature followed an all-night session of the European summit focused on strengthening the EU economic convergence and fiscal discipline. Croatia will become the 28th member of the EU in July 2013 after ratification by the legislatures of the bloc's 27 member nations. Croatia's entry talks lasted seven years and were held up repeatedly due to territorial disputes with neighbouring Slovenia and demands that it arrest remaining war crimes suspects. Croatia will become the second nation from the former Yugoslavia to join the EU after Slovenia became a member in 2004.

00:03:13	Arrival of Dalia Grybauskaitė, President of Lithuania, and soundbite (in ENGLISH): We are very happy that finally the member states decided that they need to take responsibility and go ahead very fast. That was not before. Finally, now, everybody agrees that we need to go ahead. That is very good. Of course, it will take time; a political agreement of the majority of the Member States not only the 17 Member States of the eurozone, but the majority. It is a very good further step, I am very happy and Lithuania supports it. Brits are divided and they are outside of decision making. Europe is united.	00:01:10

00:13:07	Arrival of Elio Di Rupo, Belgian Prime Minister, and soundbite (in FRENCH) saying that given the situation of the euro, fiscal discipline is needed but we also need more solidarity and more growth. I think my colleagues need to work more in these dimensions: fiscal discipline but also solidarity and growth.	00:00:30
00:13:36	Arrival of David Cameron, British Prime Minister (4 shots)	00:00:13
00:13:50	Arrival of Lawrence Gonzi, Maltese Prime Minister (4 shots)	00:00:21
2.EXTRACTS FROM THE SPEECHES
00:14:10	Title	00:00:05
00:14:15	Arrival on stage of Herman van Rompuy	00:00:03
00:14:19	Soundbite by Herman van Rompuy (in ENGLISH): Today is an historic day for Croatia and for the European Union. Nearly nine years since you applied for membership, after six years of negotiations, the Accession Treaty of Croatia to the European Union is ready for signature. Croatia is set to become the 28th Member State of the Union.	00:00:30
00:14:49	Arrival on stage of Donald Tusk, Polish Prime Minister and President in office of the Council of the EU	00:00:06
00:14:54	Soundbite by Donald Tusk (in POLISH) saying that we are at a key juncture in the EU's history. After our exhausting discussions, we are looking for a way out of the crisis, which everybody is feeling throughout the world, but particularly in the eurozone. Croatia's decision and the hopes of other countries who are still dreaming of joining the EU, show that the EU makes sense.	00:00:38
00:15:32	Arrival on stage of Jerzy Buzek, President of the EP (2 shots)	00:00:12
00:15:43	Soundbite (in ENGLISH) by Jerzy Buzek: The process of accession is often seen as a marathon. It is true it has taken you, Croatian friends, 10 years of hard work to get to where we are today. You have done an incredible job in adopting your laws, standards and institutions and procedures to our common model. Every marathon ends with a final sprint, it is important for all of us to cross the finish line on the 1st July 2013.	00:00:40
00:16:24	Arrival on stage of José Manuel Barroso	00:00:10

00:16:34	Soundbite by José Manuel Barroso (in ENGLISH): Enlargement, provided that all the relevant conditions are met, will thus continue to serve as an anchor of stability, a driver of democracy and the rule of law, and as a catalyst for economic prosperity. We should therefore not let the economic crisis overshadow this very important European policy. The current crisis, we all know it, is serious. We should not let it affect the Union's basic commitment towards the other countries of the region.	00:00:32
00:17:06	Arrival on stage of Ivo Josipović	00:00:08
00:17:15	Soundbite by Ivo Josipović (in CROATIAN) saying that Croatia is the first new Member State of the EU which, during its transition towards memberships, had to overcome the difficult legacy of war. This makes Croatia's accession even greater. For this reason, this time of a profound crisis in Europe, the EU, they can proudly give the congratulations for Croatia's successes. Croatia success is the success of a peace making policy which is the strongest foundation of the unification of Europe.	00:00:33
00:17:47	Arrival on stage of Jadranka Kosor	00:00:09
00:17:56	Soundbite by Jadranka Kosor (in CROATIAN) saying that, bearing Croatia's recent history in mind, she believes that all of us Croats can rightly feel proud and satisfied with our achievement. The EU Accession Treaty is certainly one of the most important international agreements. It no doubt constitutes the crowning achievement on their way to international recognition and in terms of strengthening their position on the global state.	00:00:27
