On 8 May 2013, the Court of Justice of the EU gave its Judgment in Joined Cases C 197/11 and C-203/11, Eric Libert, Christian Van Eycken, Max Bleeckx, Syndicat national des propriétaires et copropriétaires ASBL, Olivier de Clippele v Gouvernement Flamand concerning the Flemish Decree on land and real estate policy. The Court decided that the Decree is contrary to EU law and that the condition that there exists a 'sufficient connection' between the prospective buyer of immovable property and the target commune constitutes an unjustified restriction on fundamental freedoms.
