ECN Brief 05/2012

Dear Reader,

The ECN Brief is completing its third year of publication: with already 15 issues, it reflects the richness of antitrust enforcement actions and advocacy by the authorities that form the European Competition Network (ECN).

The creation of the ECN was part of the implementation of Council Regulation (EC) No 1/2003 (Regulation 1/2003) which was adopted 10 years ago. It marked the beginning of a new era for the enforcement of the EU competition rules in which the competition authorities of the EU Member States became much more active players in this field.

Most contributions of the ECN members in this Extended Issue show how Regulation 1/2003 has impacted on national competition laws and to what extent it has served as a source of inspiration for convergence in this area. Other articles illustrate the practical use of the cooperation tools put in place by the Regulation, such as the power to take investigatory measures on behalf of other network members. Moreover, the structure of the competition authorities forming the network continues to evolve and we see examples of major structural reforms reported in this issue.

The Extended Issue further highlights the recent endorsement of a strengthened ECN Model Leniency Programme (MLP) that ECN competition authorities have jointly drawn up, and around which they align their leniency procedures. Leniency programmes are a key tool for the detection of secret cartels for virtually all ECN members. The MLP is an achievement of the network of these last ten years. The Extended Issue also gives a prominent place to the ECN Reports on investigative and decision-making powers which provide an overview of the enforcement procedures in the ECN. These reports give insight into the degree of convergence achieved to date and can serve as a basis for informed debate about the need for further procedural convergence within the ECN.

Since the adoption of Regulation 1/2003, EU competition rules are more and more important to the practice of the national competition authorities. Cooperation within the ECN continuously stimulates the development and exploration of new paths. The ECN Brief will help you to remain informed.

Season's greetings,

Alexander Italianer

Romania: Fines imposed on Bid-Rigging Cartel in Natural Gas Pipelines Sector

The Romanian Competition Council (RCC) found that four undertakings had taken part in bid rigging in the framework of two public procurement procedures organised by Transgaz: the first concerned a tender for the natural gas connection for the gas-supply of a cogeneration power plant, and the second related to a gas transport pipeline tender procedure. Based on its findings, the RCC sanctioned the undertakings concerned with fines totalling € 5 600 000.

Finland: New Competition and Consumer Authority to commence Operations on 1 January 2013

The purpose of the merger between the Finnish Competition Authority and the Consumer Agency is to enhance the importance of consumer and competition affairs in society and to streamline administration (see also ECN Brief 3/2012). The current statutory duties of the authorities involved are not to be changed. The Competition and Consumer Agency is to have separate divisions for competition affairs and consumer affairs. The President of the Finnish Republic confirmed the pertinent acts on 30 November 2012.

• European Competition Network refines its Model Leniency Programme

On 22 November 2012, the European Competition Network (ECN) published a refined Model Leniency Programme (MLP), around which ECN competition authorities align their own leniency procedures. The MLP was adopted in 2006 to make it easier for companies to apply for leniency, in particular where it is not clear which competition authority will take the case forward. The ECN has now, in particular, clarified and simplified the information that must be provided by companies that are applying for leniency with several different authorities in the EU.
