1 Update of the Political, Economic and Social Situation

1.1 Update on the Political Situation (Government-position)

In 2007, one of the major political events was the launching of inter-party talks between the ruling party ZANU PF and the opposition parties, the two factions of the MDC, under the auspices of the SADC and led by South African President Thabo Mbeki. The negotiators reached agreements on all issues (reforms of security laws, electoral laws, media laws and a new Constitution), which were on the agenda before the commencement of the talks. The SADC Extraordinary Summit held in Dar Es Salaam, Tanzania, in March 2007 mandated President Thabo Mbeki to mediate between Zimbabwe's main political parties, ZANU (PF) and MDC with the view to bring about "conditions for the holding of free and fair elections in the country". A free and fair election would, according to the terms of reference, help unlock the political and economic differences and put the country on a recovery programme. What that essentially entailed was a convergence of minds of the parties concerned. While cognisant of the need for a new Constitution, the parties agreed that given the limited time at hand, provisions for the holding of the elections would be done via the Constitutional Amendment (No.18), which provided for the holding of harmonised elections on a single day, i.e Presidential, Parliamentary and local government elections. This Bill was jointly sponsored in parliament by Zanu-PF and the MDC.

It was agreed that a new constitution which would necessarily have to be "sent to people" through a referendum would be a priority after the elections. The same spirit saw the two parties co-sponsoring Bills to amend the Public Order and Security Act, Access to Information and Protection of Privacy Act and the Broadcasting Services Act, all of which had been identified by the MDC as obstacles to the holding of free and fair elections.

On the sidelines of the 10th Ordinary Session of the Assembly of the African Union, President Mbeki briefed the SADC Organ on Politics, Defence and Security on the progress of his mediation efforts. President Mbeki informed the SADC leadership that Zanu-PF and MDC had reached agreement on all substantive matters relating to the political situation in the country, as reflected on the agenda before the negotiations. Following the passage of constitutional and statutory changes in the Parliament of Zimbabwe, which changes were assented to by President Mugabe, the only outstanding matter related to the procedure to be followed in enacting the agreed draft constitution.

In September 2007, Constitutional Amendment No 18 was enacted. It increased the number of seats in both Houses of the Parliament. All 210 members of the House of Assembly will now be directly elected; as will 60 of the 93 Senate seats. The other 33 Senate seats will be occupied as follows:

- (a) ten shall be Provincial Governors,
- (b) two shall be the President and the Deputy President of the Council of chiefs,
- (c) sixteen shall be Chiefs, being two Chiefs from each of the provinces, other than the metropolitan provinces, elected in accordance with the Electoral Law; and
- (d) five shall be appointed by the President.

The Constitutional amendment transferred the powers of the Delimitation Commission to the Zimbabwe Electoral Commission (ZEC), which is now constitutionally responsible for ensuring that "elections are conducted efficiently, freely, fairly, transparently and in accordance with the law".

In December 2007, an extraordinary Congress of the ruling ZANU PF was held. It nominated President Robert Mugabe as the Party's candidate for the next Presidential elections to be held on 29 March 2008.

Zimbabwe has since independence never failed to honour the election calendar as stipulated in the Constitution. However, when there were proposals to harmonise the elections in 2010, the opposition cried foul suggesting that President Mugabe wanted to "hang on to power". They demanded elections in 2008 as per Constitutional requirement.

At the end of December 2007, both Houses of the Parliament ratified the revised Cotonou Agreement. It remains the framework for possible cooperation between Zimbabwe and the EU despite the fact that the 10th EDF with Zimbabwe will not be signed following the renewal of sanctions in early 2007 by the EU. In February 2007, the European Union (EU) extended for a further year its decision of February 2002 suspending development oriented cooperation assistance under the European Development Fund (EDF). Furthermore, the Council extended EU targeted sanctions such as the prohibition of arms supply, but also targeted measures, as travel ban and freezing of assets against the Zimbabwean leadership. European Union countries continued with their policy of not extending balance of payments support, loans and credit to the government of Zimbabwe.

A burdensome sanctions regime from the EU, the US, Australia, New Zealand among other countries has denied the country access to the much-needed lines of credit. A lot of companies with operations in Zimbabwe have been coerced to either cease or downgrade operations. The net effect of punitive measures goes beyond the intended effect of the so-called "smart sanctions" that are said to have been imposed on the Zimbabwean leadership and with no negative effect on the economy led by the same individuals. The government of Zimbabwe contends that the West has not only imposed a full range of sanctions on Zimbabwe, but that Britain and its allies have given sanctuary to high profile individuals on the police wanted list of economic crime fugitives.

The Government of Zimbabwe in 2007 restated its position that Zimbabwe had not set any bench marks to dialogue and had always been ready to engage the EU as long as the dialogue was done on an equal platform with the mutual understanding and appreciation of each other's views. Zimbabwe also states that it looks forward to seeing both parties actively and honestly putting effort towards the restoration of dialogue and reverting to the former relationship that the duo once enjoyed. It is the government's view that it was too early to conclude that Zimbabwe and the EU had reached a stalemate entailing no possibility of reviving the dialogue process. Government observes that the renewal of sanctions was counter-productive when viewed against EU dialogue overtures to the Government of Zimbabwe in 2007. Zimbabwe argues that concepts such as "restrictive measures" used in the context of EU sanctions are misleading. It stated that it was a fact that the EU withdrew the traditional balance of payments support, the EDF development oriented funding under Envelop "A" and on the other fronts continued with an intense anti-Zimbabwe campaign aimed at destroying Zimbabwe' tourism industry.

Following the politically motivated demonstrations on 11 March 2007 by the two MDC factions under what was termed "a prayer meeting", violent exchanges between the opposition and the police occurred. Some MDC leaders were seriously injured during the altercations and physical exchanges with the police. The government expressed serious concern at those EU ambassadors who had shown open support for the opposition parties during the demonstrations that turned violent. In particular, government condemned EU ambassadors who paid hospital visits including the delivery of food to hospitals for consumption by the injured opposition leadership. The government contrasted the benevolence of some EU ambassadors towards the injured MDC elements with the lack of such benevolence towards the victims of the commuter train that had recently crashed in Harare.

Referring to the conduct of some EU ambassadors on 11 March 2007, government stated that, "It is a vain self serving posture to spare no effort in condemning and denouncing the actions of a government which acts to restore order and the rule of law in the face of violent acts and the wanton destruction of property. No government will stand aside when sections of its population, for whatever reason decide to go on a warpath with the aim of making the country ungovernable. Governments are elected to govern and they are called upon to discharge that constitutional mandate without fear or favour". The government contended that Zimbabwe-EU relations would not be normalised through acts of hypocrisy. That it was hypocritical to sponsor and side with those bent on making the country ungovernable and at the same time call for restraint on the part of government. It further stated that those who preach good governance, rule of law and human rights observance should always be the first to condemn any act that is calculated to compromise government's ability to promote and safeguard these universally cherished human values.

1.2 Update on the Political Situation (EC position)

In 2007, one of the major political events was the launching of a mediation process between the ruling party ZANU PF and the opposition parties, the two factions of the MDC, under the auspices of the SADC and lead by South African President Thabo Mbeki. The negotiators reached agreements on several critical issues (reforms of security laws, electoral laws, media laws and a new Constitution). This mediation process was decided by the SADC Summit in Dar-es-Salaam in March 2007 after major political violence episodes that occurred in the country in March 2007. Unfortunately the mediation has not been finalised by the end of 2007 as initially announced by the mediation team.

In September 2007, the Constitution was amended for the 18th time. It has increased the number of seats in both Houses of the Parliament. All 210 members of the House of Assembly will now be directly elected; as will 60 of the 93 Senate seats. The President will appoint the remaining 33 Senators.

The Constitutional amendment has transferred the powers of the Delimitation Commission to the Zimbabwe Electoral Commission (ZEC), which is now constitutionally responsible for ensuring that "elections are conducted efficiently, freely, fairly, transparently and in accordance with the law". Elections for the President, for both houses of Parliament, and for local government will now take place at the same time. If a President fails to serve a full term, Parliament will elect a successor.

In December 2007, an extraordinary Congress of the ruling ZANU PF was held. It has nominated President Robert Mugabe as the Party's candidate for the next Presidential elections to be held on 29 March 2008.

End of December 2007, both House of the Parliament has ratified the revised Cotonou Agreement. It remains the framework of possible cooperation between Zimbabwe and the European Union (EU) despite the fact that the process to complete the 10th European Development Fund (EDF) with Zimbabwe could not be finalised before the end of the year because of the current strained political relation with Zimbabwe. In February 2007, the EU extended for a further year its decision of February 2002 suspending partially cooperation assistance under the EDF. Furthermore, the Council extended the "Common Position" on "restrictive measures" such as the prohibition of arms supply, but also targeted measures, as travel ban and freezing of assets against the Zimbabwean leadership.

The EU has remained all along the year available to establish a political dialogue with the government of Zimbabwe but this dialogue did not take place.

1.3 Update on the Economic Situation

Zimbabwe saw a continued economic decline in 2007, with real GDP contracting by at least 6.1%. The economic environment is characterised by the absence of balance of payment support, withdrawal of lines of credit and disinvestment by foreign firms, foreign currency shortages for the importation of raw materials, equipment, and fuel and electricity continue to affect the operations of the economy's key sectors.

The economy was characterised by the following:

- Inflation level rose from 1,281.1% in December 2006 to 66,212.3% in December 2007¹; affecting specially the poorest section of the population in both rural and urban areas whose incomes do not keep up with the pace of inflation. In April 2007 Zimbabwe had reached hyperinflation levels;
- Given the rise in inflation, the country experienced a shortage of cash towards the end of the year, with long queues for cash withdrawing. On 20/12 "Sunrise II operation" was launched with the introduction of new bearer cheques;
- Public expenditures for 2007 not taking into account quasi-fiscal activities stood at Zimbabwean Dollars (ZWD) 86.6 Trillions and total revenues for the same period stood at ZWD 90.6 Trillion;
- Foreign debts cumulated at USD 4.1 Billion of which USD 2.7 Billion are arrears;
- Government domestic debt amounted to 21.2 trillion as at 4th January 2008², with 36.5% composed by 365-day treasury bills (compared with 99.4% in January 2007).
- According to the latest Reserve Bank of Zimbabwe (RBZ) figures, except for agriculture, with a projected growth of 1.4%, most sectors of the economy contracted; particularly the mining sector (-8.1%), the manufacturing sector (-16.3%) reaching now a critical under utilisation at less than 30% of production capacity and distribution and hotels sectors (-13%);
- The price controls policy in the third quarter of the year obliged some manufacturers, services providers and retailers to operate at loss, with resulting shortages of goods on the market.

¹ Central Statistical Office (CSO) figures. The International Monetary Fund estimated annual inflation by end 2007 to be up to 150,000%.

² Data from the January 2008 Monetary Policy Statement.

As a consequence of the economic deterioration, several people have left the country. It is estimated that approximately 3 million Zimbabweans are currently living abroad³. Major destinations are reported to be South Africa, Botswana, the United Kingdom and the United States.

Remittance flows to Zimbabwe are not easy to obtain since most are channeled through informal channels which makes it difficult to track or record. However, a recent report by IFAD⁴ estimates remittance inflows to Zimbabwe at US$361 million. Additionally, with the shortages of basic commodities, the pattern of remittances in the form of consumable goods is increasing.

In 2007, Government of Zimbabwe through the RBZ implemented several policy measures which were meant to stimulate the supply side of the economy as well as increase capacity utilization. These include:-

- Farm Mechanisation Programme;
- Cattle Herd Restocking Programme;
- Continued disbursement of funds under the Agricultural Sector Performance Enhancement Facility;
- Operation Food Security;
- Seed Development Programme;
- SMEs Development Programme;
- Rural Business Facility;
- Tourism Development Facility;
- Bio-fuels; and
- Basic Commodities Supply Side Interventions (BACOSSI).

Notwithstanding the policy measures above, distortions emanating from the fixed exchange rate, price control, export proceeds control policy in terms of export retention, remained a challenge in 2007.

Although the Social Contract was agreed to and some protocols signed, little have been achieved in terms of a common position in addressing the economic challenges.

The agriculture sector which employs 18% of the labour force is estimated to have experienced a 1.4% growth in 2007. Erratic climatic conditions, lack of essential and untimely availability of key inputs such as seeds, fertilizer and chemicals, and other structural bottlenecks had a negative impact on production and income generation. However, the EC is of the opinion that delays in granting the proposed security of tenure is negatively impacting on agriculture. Contrary, the Government does not believe that tenure significantly affected production given that individuals voluntarily applied for farms without raising the question of tenure as a pre-condition of carrying out agricultural production. In addition, Government has not identified land beneficiaries who have not carried out farming activities due to concerns over tenure.

However, Government is in the process of formulating a medium term economic strategy, the Zimbabwe Economic Development Strategy (ZEDS) (2009-2013) through broad-based consultative and participatory process. It is intended to be a pro-poor Growth and ³ The Flow, Impact and Regulatory Framework of Migrant Labour Remittances in Zimbabwe - Phase I, IOM, April 2008.

⁴ IFAD, Sending Money Home. Worldwide Remittance Flows to Developing Countries, 2007.

Development Strategy premised on the fundamental principles of promoting sustainable economic growth and development for poverty reduction. Meanwhile, Government is also working on a short term economic stabilisation programme to be ready early 2008.

In June 2007, an Indigenisation and Economic Empowerment Bill was proposed, with a direct majority of 51% to previously disadvantage indigenous Zimbabwean for any business going into financial restructuring or any new foreign investment. Following the legislative process, the bill has been approved by Parliament in October and presented for signature.

In terms of trade, globally, Zimbabwe has experienced a contraction of its exports of about 30% between 2001 and 2007.

South Africa remains Zimbabwe's major trading partner for exports (more than 30%) and imports (around 47%). The EU as a block is the second major trade partner of Zimbabwe, with a share of more than 20% as an export destination and 8% for import followed by China with respectively 6.3% export and 5.5% import shares.

According to RBZ figures, in 2007 globally exports amounted to USD 1.68 Billion, representing a 9.6% increase compared to 2006, with mining contributing with 50% of the earnings.

In terms of trade with the EU, Zimbabwe used to export to the EU over € 800 M, in the period 2000-2001. The 2007 exports to the EU25 are now less than € 340 M⁵ (mostly made up of tobacco, flowers and minerals exports) while imports from the EU25 are about € 145 M, still leaving a positive trade balance in favour of Zimbabwe.

Zimbabwe has been negotiating the Economic Partnership Agreements (EPA) with the EC under the Eastern and Southern Africa (ESA) configuration. On 28/11/07 the EC initialled an interim trade agreement with Zimbabwe. The agreement allows for 100% liberalisation by value by the EU as of 1 January 2008, with transition periods for rice and sugar. Zimbabwe will liberalise 80% of their imports from the EU by 2022: 45% by 2012 with the remaining 35% of their imports being liberalised progressively until 2022. Goods excluded for Zimbabwe include products of animal origin, cereals, beverages paper, plastics and rubber, textiles and clothing, footwear, glass and ceramics, consumer electronic and vehicles.

Overall, in 2007, the country experienced an erosion of its competitiveness on the global market and the policies in place are yet to reverse this trend.

1.4 Update on the Poverty and Social Situation

Against the background of severe economic challenges, the social sectors struggle to cope though the budget allocation in these sectors has not been perceptually reduced. However, due to the hyperinflationary environment, the purchasing power has been severely eroded, thus affecting the services delivery. Table 1 shows the Government funding to health and its per capita allocation in USD terms during the last 9 years.

⁵ EU-Zimbabwe trade figures available from EUROSTAT up to November 2007.

Source: Draft National Health Strategy 2008-2013

The indicators referred to in this chapter are mainly extrapolated from the Zimbabwe Demographic and Health Survey (ZDHS) 2005-2006, published and launched in 2007. This data mainly reflects the population health status of 2004-2005, indicating a general down grade of the health condition and service delivery, but not yet registering a possible marked decline in 2007.

The hyperinflationary environment makes it practically impossible to use the threshold of the Total Consumption Poverty Line (TCPL). For the same reason, Government has not been able to adequately cushion the most vulnerable against the harsh economic conditions despite putting in place social protection programmes including: Public Works Assistance Programme; Basic Education Assistance Module (BEAM); Community Recovery and Rehabilitation Programme; Drought Relief Programme, Allowances for disabled, National Action Plan for Orphans and Vulnerable Children (NAP for OVCs). Current general trends indicate that poverty rates are increasing in both rural and urban areas. Unemployment in the formal sector appears to have reached very high levels and there is no data available on the size of the informal sector.

According to the three most common anthropometric measures utilised during the ZDHS 2005-2006, 29% of children under 5 years of age were stunted, 6% were wasted and 17% were underweight. Child malnutrition is increasing, mostly due to national and household food insecurity, impact of HIV and AIDS and widespread poverty. The under-five mortality for the five year period prior to the survey suggests that mortality has fallen to 82 deaths per thousand. Much of the difference between the 2005-2006 ZDHS and the 1999 ZDHS appear to be related to the decline in child mortality, since the infant mortality rate remained constant at around 60 deaths per thousand.

The estimated maternal mortality ratio is 555 deaths per 100,000 live births. Although the 2005 maternal mortality rate is somewhat lower than the 1999 estimates of 578, the difference between the two figures is not statistically significant. Therefore is not possible at the moment to conclude that there has been any change in maternal mortality in Zimbabwe. However, an on-going study on maternal mortality will give the best estimates for maternal health. Overall, in urban areas 94% of births were assisted by a health professional (doctor, nurse or midwife) compared with 58% in rural areas. However, maternal mortality remains a cause for concern, as major causes of recorded deaths in health facilities are preventable if access to services is improved.

According to the Zimbabwe National HIV-AIDS Estimates 2007, adult HIV prevalence was 26.5% in 2001, 23.2% in 2003, 19.4% in 2005 and 15.6% in 2007; a drop of approximately 1.8 percentage points/year. The decline of HIV epidemic started from 1997 as a result of a combination of an increase in adult mortality in the early 1990s and a decline in HIV incidence starting in the mid 1990s. The decline of HIV incidence is confirmed by the "National Survey on HIV prevalence among women attending antenatal clinics 2006" which indicated that the HIV prevalence trend among women aged 15-24 years of age decreased from 20.8% in 2002 to 13.1% in 2006. Collected data show that the incidence decline is mainly related to the adoption of positive behavioural measures, especially a decreasing number of sexual partners and increasing condom use. Government remains committed to the fight against HIV and AIDS as it continues collecting the AIDS Levy introduced in 2000, although hyperinflation and reduced power purchasing vanished its purpose. In addition in 2002 Government declared HIV and AIDS as an emergency and thus contributing towards efforts to control the epidemic. However the levy has been eroded due to hyperinflation. In addition, the current challenges might hamper the ART scale up as foreseen by the National HIVAIDS strategy. The estimated number of annual AIDS deaths in adults peaked in 2004 with 132.786 and decreased to 115.114 in 2007 (approximately 2.214 deaths per week). The estimated number of HIV and AIDS orphans peaked in 2006 with 1.008.542 and decreased in 2007 to 975.956.

The number of TB cases increased with the increase in HIV and AIDS in Zimbabwe, reaching an estimated peak of 90.855 cases in 1999. The number of cases appears to be decreasing with an estimated 74.921 cases in 2007 (HIV and AIDS estimates 2007).

The granting of funds by the Global Fund for the fight against AIDS, Malaria and Tuberculosis is a positive development that further supports the process of meeting the MDG targets. However, Zimbabwe faces challenges in terms of accessing the funds.

Availability of staff in the public service further decline in 2007. Even though no recent data is available on skilled emigration, it is believed to have severely affected the health and education sectors.

Among the challenges is not only migration from the public to the private, but also from the country to external markets. Most recently also the private sector is facing severe difficulties in recruiting professionals. In the health sector most affected groups by the exodus include doctors (62 % of vacant posts), health top managers (81 % vacant posts), environmental officer (49 % vacant posts), nurses (24 % vacant posts) etc⁶. The lack of experienced staff not only affects the quality of the service delivery, but also the training capability in number and quality of new cadres.

According to data from the Progressive Teachers Union, it is estimated that about 15,000 teachers emigrated in 2007 alone.

Unpublished Government statistics indicate that net enrolment ratio at primary level stood at 96.6% in 2007. This statistic indicates that the country is moving steadily towards achieving the MDG Goal 2 targets of achieving universal primary education by 2015. The EC is of the view that, although the overall enrolment in primary education is still at a very high level, due to the economic decline in the country, progress towards achieving universal primary education appears to be under threat⁷.

In general, the quality of education has been falling due to the high staff turnover, impact of HIV and AIDS and brain drain of teachers which also resulted in the increasing of teacher to pupil ratio. Lack of teaching and educational material has been widely reported. Moreover, quality of education can no longer be secured in rural areas, as most teachers do not want to take up hardship posts without water, electricity or housing. Drop out rates of girls are higher than those of boys in secondary school and they are higher among the poor, as school fees, uniforms and textbooks become unaffordable.

The unpublished 2007 education statistics also show that at primary level, parity between boys and girls has already been achieved as girls constitute 49.6% of the primary enrolment. At secondary school level during the same year, girls constituted 48.1% of the enrolment. These figures indicate that the country is likely to achieve gender parity in primary education by 2015. However, the EC is of the view that, for secondary education, the MDG of gender parity is at risk of not being achieved.⁸

The numbers of OVCs has been increasing as a result of HIV and AIDS and the economic decline. According to UNICEF⁹, of the estimated 1.3 million orphans in Zimbabwe in 2007, about 77% have been orphaned by AIDS. Access to quality education is continuing to be a challenge as significant increases in school fees and general costs of living negatively impact school attendance.

In terms of gender violence UNICEF reports that child abuse and gender-based violence continue to be key protection concerns in the current humanitarian situation. The 2005/2006 Demographic Health Survey found that 25% of Zimbabwean women had experienced sexual violence at some point in their lives.

The decline in the economy has impacted negatively on the well being of the population directly and indirectly and poses a risk in the progress towards achieving the MDG targets.

2 Overview of Past and Ongoing Co-operation

2007 was an especially prolific year for Zimbabwe when it comes to new Global Commitments. All projects in the pipeline had a financing decision in 2007. This is certainly due to the “Sunset Clause” of the 9th EDF. A particular circumstance for this country was the importance of the de-commitments of unused funds from previous EDF's, which have been the main financing source for the projects approved in 2007.

In 2007, EC funded support to Zimbabwe amounted to 90.9 Million Euros, 39% on EDF funds and 61% Commission Budget Lines, with the majority allocated to Humanitarian Assistance, Human & Social Development, Food Security, Food Aid, Micro projects, Decentralised Cooperation, Community Development, etc.

Given the huge needs in the country and the relatively scarce EDF funds (given the original suspension of the 9th EDF A-Envelope and its definitive transfer to the General Reserve in 2007) lead to the request of funds under the Regional B-Envelope, which were mobilized in three financing decisions (including one for ECHO) at the end of 2007 for a total of € 23.211.615.

Considering both financing sources, national and regional B-Envelope, this results in a final amount of € 46.489.914 in Global Commitments in 2007.

In term of programming of the 10th EDF, a draft Country Strategy Paper was finalised in July 2007 with an A envelop amounting to 129.6 M€, based on the amount from the 9th EDF. The breakdown of this envelope gives 85% to the two selected focal sectors: Human and Social Development (45%) and Rural development, territorial planning, agriculture, food security and environment (40%). The selected non focal sectors are Trade and Regional Integration and Support to Non-State Actors, which together with TCF amount to the remaining 15% of the Envelope.

Attached to the CSP was a 3 years Short Term Strategy (STS) for a total of 64 M € in order to maintain the current level of implementation in the sectors where the EC is present, in the event of no change in the application of Article 96. Following the Regional bilateral management meeting in Maputo in November 2007, it was agreed that only the first year requirement could be subject to an Annual Action Plan to finance projects from the 10th EDF B-Envelope in order to continue EU support to the Zimbabwean population in line with the present EU policy vis-à-vis Zimbabwe. Despite that the requirement was estimated at 34.4 M €, it was indicated that an indicative envelope of 8.6 M € was allocated to Zimbabwe for the period 2008-2013.

Health Sector Support

The Vital Health Services Support Programme (VHSSP) was launched in February 2007. The programme focuses on key areas affecting the health sector, i.e. human resources for health and the procurement of essential drugs.

Following the recommendation of a study "Design of an Incentive package for attracting critical health staff in Zimbabwe", an Incentive Package to retain key health personnel was designed and agreed with the Ministry of Health in September 2007. The package consists of financial incentives for District Medical Officers, Government Medical Officers and the District Health Executive teams in 24 selected target districts. It also includes non-financial incentives through the improvement of the work environment by procuring generators, water tank and computers.

A tender for essential drugs was carried out in 2007 and drug deliveries under this tender started in December 2007. Due to the current macroeconomic situation in Zimbabwe, MoHCW is not able to purchase most of the needed vital drugs, and in November 2007 their availability was well under 40% of the need. A new drug international tender was prepared, to be launched in early 2008, and other health partners were requested to further contribute to fulfil the drugs gap.

A programme estimate for training of Primary Care Nurses, Pharmacy Technicians, Laboratory Technicians, Health Information Officers, etc., including their supervision was prepared and signed in December 2007 to be implemented in 2008.

As most of the activities started to be implemented towards the end of 2007, there are not yet lessons learned to be reported.

The preparation of a second phase of the Vital Health Service Support Programme (VHSSP 2, € 6.5 Million) was finalised in the third quarter of the year and approved by the EDF Committee in November 2007. This programme will follow up on VHSSP 1 and continue the incentive package and procurement of essential drugs.

Additional support to the health sector continued to be provided through financing NGOs and UN agencies under the thematic budget lines. Projects mainly focus on HIV and AIDS prevention, care and treatment activities.

A study on "Access to Health Care Services in Zimbabwe" was launched in October 2007. The study's objectives are to assess the current access to drugs and health care services by the population of Zimbabwe, especially its more disadvantaged groups and to gather information for decision making on needs and donors support. Results will be available in the first quarter of 2008.

The support received from the EU has assisted significantly in minimising the challenges faced by the health sector and as such the Government appreciate the continuity of the EC support in this sector.

Support to Orphans and Vulnerable Children (OVC)

In December 2007, the EC contributed € 10 Million to a UNICEF managed trust fund for Orphans and Vulnerable Children (OVC) supported by several donors. The Programme of Support is embedded in Zimbabwe's National Action Plan for OVC. The programme targets a total 350,000 OVC countrywide. It aims to increase access for OVC to basic social services, including an increased enrolment and retention of OVC in primary and secondary schools through school fees support, block grants for schools, provision of uniforms, didactic material, meals etc. For reference, in April 2007 the first joint Annual Review of the PoS took place, mostly reviewing the development of the programme, resource mobilization and selection process, as it was still too early to assess its results for children.

Additional support to OVC is provided through a number of NGO projects supported by the EC through the thematic budget lines.

Education Sector Support

The Education Transition and Reform Programme (ETRP) officially ended in December 2006. Post project support was provided through the contracting of skeletal staff to allow the orderly completion of outstanding activities which included follow-up on disbursements, auditing, handover of assets and the preparation and submission of closure reports. All open individual commitments were closed. A request for the closure of the global commitment was submitted to HQ.

An evaluation of the ETRP carried out in early 2007 recommended that, if the 10th EDF is launched, "substantial funding should be included for an enhanced, updated and more ambitious education project, which should be spread out to more poor Districts, to continue the clearly beneficial effects which have occurred from ETRP". Consequently, a Feasibility study for the basic education sector which also includes the preparation of a financing proposal was launched in November and a first draft report submitted in December 2007. The success of the pilot phase under ETRP would advocate for a similar programme on wider scale to be designed and implemented across the country.

Agriculture and Food Security

The STABEX 95 was signed by Government mid 2007 and negotiations with the beneficiaries picked up again. The three Farmers Unions, the NAO and EC held discussions on how to move forward with the project and already in preparation of further activities the relationship between the three Unions got strongly improved. The three unions confronted the Government in unison on several occasions. The possibilities and speed of implementation of the Stabex 95 depend on Governments commitments and action to ensure the functioning of the agricultural commercial sector. Land issues are part of those commitments to be taken. The first work program to be signed was the continuation of the support to the Cotton Training Centre for the training of small scale farmers.

The Zimbabwe Sugar Adaptation Strategy was finalised during 2007 and was accepted by the Directorate Development. In consequence, the EU response strategy and indicative program were prepared and accepted by the EU Member States. The 2007 Annual Action Plan (AAP) was signed by the commission in December 2007 and was submitted early 2008 to the Government for signature. The AAP will be implemented under centralised implementation. The 2007 phase foresees in the funding of € 2.7 Million in funding. The 2007 AAP is laying the basis for the implementation of the whole sugar adaptation strategy, to take place in 2008, assuming specific actions are taken by the Industry and the Government in the arrest and eventual reversal of the decline in the sugar production.

The Food Security Call for Proposal 2006 was finalised and fully engaged during 2007. NGO projects were selected in the field of livelihoods improvement and particularly in the field of "Linking Relief, Rehabilitation and Development."

Dialogue with Government continued on the agricultural sector in particular with the EC's proposed coffee initiative. Little progress was made as concerns and prerogatives between the EU and the concerned ministries seemed to be so far irreconcilable.

The Smallholder Micro-Irrigation Development Support Programme was signed by the NAO in November 2007 and the recruitment of the Programme Manager and Accountant was done in December 2007. The first programme estimate of the project will commence during the first quarter of 2008.

Technical Cooperation Facility (TCF)

The first TCF was fully committed by 25th October 2007, and the implementation of the activities under TCF 1 is progressing well. The NAO signed the 2nd Technical Cooperation Facility in November 2007.

ACP/EC Energy Facility

The two successful energy projects that were approved under the ACP/EC Energy Facility call for proposals were committed in December 2007 and the initial pre-financing advances were also paid. The first project will be implemented in Zimbabwe, Mozambique and Malawi and seeks to install some mini-hydro electricity generating plants and the second project seeks to install a steam engine for thermal electricity generation in Chimanimani district of Zimbabwe.

Trade

The Financing Agreement for the Trade Capacity Building Project for Non-State Actors, a 3 years project accounting for € 1 Million (financed from 9th EDF ETR), was signed in November 2007 and the recruitment of the Project Management Unit was initiated before the end of the year. The launching of the project is expected for March 2008, with an inception workshop for key stakeholders.

Community Development - ST

Both EDF funded Programmes targeting communities, the Microprojects Programme (MPP) and the Zimbabwe Developing Communities Programme (ZDCP) continued to be implemented in 2007 as planned despite the difficulties of implementation. Amongst other obstacles linked to the economic crisis in the country, the low value to be received for the Euro on the official market has negatively impacted specially on MPP and ZDCP. The local expenditure in ZWD has made these projects extremely expensive, out of any normal range.

Despite the challenges a total of 100 new projects with a total funding of €3,816,307 were approved and implemented during the year. The projects were in the thematic areas of education, health, capacity building, agriculture and food security, employment creation and natural resource management. The bulk of the projects were in the education sector and these focused on the procurement of teaching and learning materials, infrastructure provision and capacity building of the School Development Committees.

The projects also targeted communities living with HIV/AIDS through the procurement of home-based care kits, funding of herbal gardens and provision of training focusing on education, awareness and prevention. In addition to direct project funding, project committees were set-up and members were trained to execute their responsibilities. The programmes also continued to give logistical support to Rural District Councils and technical ministries in the districts to implement and monitor the projects.

One of the lessons learnt is that the programmes must target software type of projects to avoid problems associated with technically complex projects as well as reduce problems of cost increases due to inflation. The programmes must continue to play a facilitator role and engage public and non-public actors in service delivery as is the case with the Gweru City Council and the Mtapu water project. Community mobilisation and participation are important since they strengthen ownership and commitment among project members.

Non State Actors (NSAs) Support Programme

A new programme to support civil society through umbrella organisations and platforms has been identified and designed in 2007 on the basis of a civil society mapping study completed in January 2007 by external consultants. The overall objective of this Programme is to develop the capacity of the NSAs to respond to the development challenges affecting the country while at the same time raising the profile of women's issues on the national agenda. It has not yet started in 2007.

Thematic Areas under Direct Management of the EC Delegation (EDF): the following actions are funded under EDF and have been approved by the NAO but are under direct supervision of the EC Delegation. The NAO is therefore not co-managing these actions as it is the case for other programmes. Please note that these actions have been signed at the end of the year and have not yet started to be implemented.

Governance

The EDF Contribution Agreement (€ 1 Million) to the UNDP Support to Parliament was approved and signed by the UNDP and EC on 11 December 2007. This agreement is the positive outcome of two years of analysis and procedures and is demonstrating the importance given by the EU to the strengthening of the principles of good governance of democratic institutions.

Migration and Development Strategy

An EDF Contribution Agreement to the Zimbabwe Migration and Development Strategy (€ 842,998) implemented by the International Organisation for Migrations (IOM) was approved and signed by all parties in October 2007. The action should be seen as a long term effort to contribute to provide to development in Zimbabwe, of a strategic and policy framework for Migration and Development.

EC Centralised Management (EC budget)

A new local call for proposals on the European Initiative for Democracy and Human Rights has been launched and six new contracts were awarded in view to promote a culture of human rights and to strengthen democratic principles.

The identification and submission of a €3Million programme under the Instrument for Stability, which aims at promoting dialogue and democracy in Zimbabwe, in the context of the 2008 elections was done in 2007. The Stability Instrument is composed of a combination of actions, offering immediate support to the State (including Local Authorities) and Non State Actors (NSA).

Other Budget Lines - Humanitarian/Food Aid

In addition to the decision mentioned above (€ 7,200,000), €22,000,000 was mobilized by DG ECHO during 2007 (€8,000,000 humanitarian and € 15,000,000 food aid), making a total of €29,200,000 to support humanitarian interventions during the year.

DG ECHO provides funding for humanitarian aid projects implemented by UN Agencies, International Organizations, the Red Cross family and International NGOs, aimed at preventing the deterioration of the humanitarian situation and alleviating its impact. In 2007, projects were funded in the areas of food security; water and sanitation; health and epidemic response; Mobile and Vulnerable Populations; Orphans & Other Vulnerable Children; and Humanitarian Co-ordination.

3 Policy Coherence for Development (PCD)

Trade and Regional Integration has been selected by the Government as a non focal sector for support in the Country Strategy Paper for Zimbabwe. Meanwhile, the EC has conducted a Needs Assessment of Trade and Trade Related Assistance for Zimbabwe, finalised in August 2007, as well as a feasibility study for a capacity building project. Both studies concluded that NSA have little knowledge of EPA and other international trade initiatives and they also lag behind in participating in trade negotiations. With the signing of the interim trade agreement between the EC and Zimbabwe end of 2007, and the negotiations continuing in 2008 towards a comprehensive EPA and with a major focus on regional integration, the EC will be assisting the Non State Actors through capacity building initiatives aiming to enhance the capacity of NSA to influence trade policy and trade negotiating outcomes.

The challenges in the agricultural sector and the consequential increase of poverty in the rural areas have had a strong, yet negative, environmental impact. The Delegation has therefore strongly increased its focus on integration of environmental issues in its dialogue with partners and activities on the ground.

Relating to the policy areas of the social dimension of globalisation and migration, the brain drain in the health and education sectors in Zimbabwe has accelerated in 2007 as a result of hyperinflation and increasingly difficult working conditions, especially in rural areas. In response to this situation, the EC under the VHSSP I start financing in 2007 a retention incentive package consisting of financial (top up salaries) and non-financial incentives (electric generators, water supply system, vehicle maintenance and mileage, etc.) to retain key health personnel in selected districts of Zimbabwe. The programme is expected to contribute to a continuation of the delivery of health services in peripheral areas. A new programme "VHSSP II" approved in December 2007 will allow extending this positive intervention up to December 2009.

4 Joint EU-Africa Strategy

Activities in the health sector directly contribute to the EU response strategy to tackle the MDGs within the EU Strategy for Africa, in particular through investing in people. In line with the objective of the Strategy to deliver decent healthcare, a Vital Health Services Support Programme (VHSSP) was launched in 2007 in Zimbabwe, focusing on retaining key health personnel and procuring essential drugs including ARV. In 2008, the continuation of the VHSSP will contribute to the planned outcomes of "progress towards universal access to affordable quality medicines" and "increased capacity to train, retain and stimulate the return of health workers" within Priority Action 3 of the Africa-EU Partnership on the Millennium Development Goals under the First Action Plan. Additional funding through the 10th EDF B-Envelope will be sought to scale up particularly the procurement of essential drugs and the incentive package for District health personnel. Furthermore, additional B-envelope funds will be sought to develop an education sector support programme, contributing to the outcomes of "greater access to free, equitable and quality education" and "improved quality of education infrastructure, facilities and management systems" within Priority Action 4. For this purpose, a project is being developed aiming at keeping primary schools functioning in an environment of sharp economic decline.

Promotion of good governance as a cross cutting issue in EU development aid strategy has been central in all the activities of the Delegation. Most notably, the Governance profile was initially drafted in 2006 in the context of the 10th EDF programming. The EC urged the Government to adopt governance as a non-focal sector but Government declined, arguing that issues to do with governance were not of a national priority. Government stated that issues of governance are cross-cutting and needed to be mainstreamed. So far no Governance commitment plan has been transmitted by the Government to the EC.

A summarised version of the Governance Profile has been updated by the EC in 2007 and will, as the previous version, be submitted to the Government for comments.

As promoted in the EU strategy for development, NSAs and local authorities have remained important partners and have been both consulted and financially supported in different areas of actions.

5 Donor Coordination and Harmonisation

In the current circumstance of absence of structured relationship between most of the bilateral and multilateral donors and the Government, Zimbabwe did not subscribe to the Paris Declaration on Aid Effectiveness in 2007, even so the concept is known in the NAO office.

However, donors have taken it upon themselves outside Government to spearhead donor coordination through the OECD Exercise on the application of principles of good international engagement, which was completed in 2007 with a final report produced by the Delegation.

In line with the agreed “EU Principles for effective international engagement in Zimbabwe”, donor coordination in 2007 has intensified.

At the level of the EU Head of Mission monthly meeting continued with also ad hoc on consultation meetings on strategies and/or policies documents. Several briefings to Heads of Missions and Development Councillors level were conducted during the year, on projects, term strategy, overall presentation on the current EU programme in Zimbabwe, update on EPA negotiations, etc. A 3 days Heads of Mission field visit was organised by the EC Delegation in November 2007 around Bulawayo Area.

The Delegation participated to the UN monthly donor's coordination meeting and to the mid term country programme (ZUNDAF) that was held in November 2007 to review annual implementation progress in the six ZUNDAF Thematic Groups.

At the level of the World Bank and in line with their "First Interim Strategy" a Multi Donor Trust Fund (MDTF) was launched by the end of the year. The trust fund is to contribute to analytical work on the key development challenges facing Zimbabwe and to develop, including through pilot activities, suitable instruments that can enable Government and donors to respond quickly to changes in conditions and resumption of full cooperation. MDTF has also brought all donors together to prepare work plan for studies and use of common contracting procedures. Improved donor coordination is an expected benefit from the activities and synergies supported under the MDTF. The Delegation is contributing to the MDTF and has chaired in 2007 the economist technical group.

Besides these general coordination platforms, thematic coordination between donors also intensified. There are thematic coordination in food security and humanitarian issues, social protection, health, economic matters, governance and human right and infrastructure. As an example, a new Health Development Partners Coordination Group was set under the chairmanship of the EC. As no mechanism for overall health sector donor coordination had been in place so far, the initiative is filling a gap and is welcomed by development partners. The EC, through its humanitarian budget line, also supports humanitarian coordination in the areas of water and sanitation and nutrition through UNICEF, food security through FAO, and general coordination through UN-OCHA.

With these several coordination platforms on the increase in light of the current situation, one of the challenges is the time and resource constraints to ensure the EC presence and active participation in these multiple forums.

In terms of in-field dialogue between the Head of Delegation and the NAO, the two parts have been finalizing the JAR 2006 but differences of positions particularly on the political section have not been solved and the dialogue on these issues has been limited.

In addition to the discussions on the Joint Annual Report (JAR) other meetings took place during 2007. The Delegation held meetings with the Ministry of Industry and International Trade on EPA preparations, on the elaboration of a sugar adaptation strategy and on the Trade Capacity Building Project. The Delegation had meetings with the Ministry of Health on the necessity to develop a sector strategy.

6 Dialogue in country with the NSAs, local authorities and the national Parliaments

NSAs have been fully involved in the programming of the 10th EDF. A consultation process was launched in 2006 by the EC Delegation and the NAO. This process was subsequently carried on autonomously by the NSAs who produced a strategic framework containing their development priorities for the country in the context of the potential 10th EDF. This process in conjunction with the result of the NSA mapping study carried out in 2006 lead to the designing in 2007 of a NSA national support programme including a component of support to women organizations (€ 2.5 Million). This programme is aiming at building capacities and reinforcing the civil society's potential for contributing to the national development.

During 2007 the EC Delegation continued to consult NSAs and local authorities on a very regular basis both in the framework of specific local calls for proposals to be launched and more generally on different topics related to the national context.

In the framework of supporting the activities and dialogue with the National Parliament, in 2007 the EC has signed, through an UNDP trust fund, a contribution agreement of € 1 Million to support the reform of the Parliament.

With regard the JAR, Parliament has not been consulted by the Government on the draft due to the fact that the Parliament has been adjourned beginning of 2008 in view of the coming presidential, parliamentary and local elections to be held in March 2008 (letter from the NAO attached).

NSAs were contacted for comments on the JAR, through the Non State Actors Forum (NSAF). However, no response has been received by the time of finalizing the draft report.

Taking advantage of the current Economic Partnership Agreements (EPAs) negotiations there has been an increase contact with the NSA representing the private sector; particularly the Zimbabwe National Chamber of Commerce, Chamber of mines and the Confederation of Zimbabwe Industries.

Government consulted the NSAs, including the private sector on the formulation of the National Sugar Adaptation Strategy.

7 Conclusions

The EC Delegation and the Government of Zimbabwe have different views of the key political developments in 2007. Therefore, sections 1.1 and 1.2 summarise the key findings.

Despite the difficult political relation between the Government of Zimbabwe and the EU and the Article 96 not yet being lifted, the Zimbabwe draft CSP has been prepared following an intensive consultation process with the national authorities and non-state actors.

During 2007, the economic situation has further deteriorated, characterised by hyperinflation, contractions of most sectors of the economy, and a further deterioration of the business environment. The informal sector of the economy has grown significantly, whilst investments in the formal sector further declined and capacity of utilisation remained low. Several policy measures have been implemented during 2007 but they are yet to impact on the overall competitiveness of the country.

Even though the commitment in the social sectors remains high and several programmes are in place to assist the vulnerable people, the economic situation has affected the capacity to deliver basic services and led to an increase in the poverty rates during 2007. Furthermore, the brain drain heavily affected health and education and the human resource needs in these areas have increased.

The HIV and AIDS prevalence rate in 2007 is estimated around 15.6%, which represents a decrease from previous years.

Despite constraints also faced by implementing partners (access to Foreign Current Accounts, shortage of local currency (withdrawing limitations), shortage of raw materials and equipments, impossibility of proper cash management, hyperinflation), the implementation of projects went on in 2007 without major disruptions. This was assisted by the good technical relationship among the NAO, EC and Line Ministries.

The support given in 2007 to vulnerable communities has proved to be very effective in terms of positive impact on people and is directly in conformity with the EU policy towards Zimbabwe of direct support to the population.

Therefore, despite the difficulties, the EC has remained its continuous assistance in the country, with EC funded support increasing from € 86.1 Million in 2006 to 90.9 Million in 2007.

During 2007 donor coordination has intensified and became more focus, with the creation and formalization of several general coordination platforms as well as thematic coordination. A World Bank Multi Donor Trust Fund (MDTF) was launched by the end of the year for analytical studies which will help to better focus development assistance during the stabilisation and the recovery period as well as to contribute to an effective division of labour when the time of recovery will come.
