NPO, Network on Public Research Programming, the Netherlands, as a network is part of Science Alliance, holding office in the Netherlands and Shanghai. Science Alliance is an intermediary organization that stimulates the collaboration and knowledge transfer between universities and external parties. NPO stimulates the interaction and knowledge transfer between scientists and policymakers. Organizing this process in a professional way adds value for both parties. Within this objective NPO is organizing an international conference on Evidence Based Policy Making: International Best Practices in connecting Science and Policy. This NPO conference chaired by Prof. dr. R.J. in 't Veld, professor of Public Administration, intends to explore how to contribute to the realization of effective policy through structured knowledge management. This conference will also explore opportunities to structure the international exchange of knowledge and experiences.
