The aim of this action is to bring together the winning entrepreneurs from different camps around Europe and engage them to participate at a European Startup contest. This event called Tech All Stars will create more visibility, will generate a big buzz among startups that already validated their products and are raising funds. The added value of this European Web Entrepreneurs Competition is to facilitate the networking experience between them and at the same time to allow them to meet and to present their ideas in front of a large audience of VC's, serial entrepreneurs, angel investors, top executives or mentors.
