2. INTRODUCTION

For a long time a forgotten crisis, the situation of East Timor dramatically made headlines in the Summer of 1999 when the 800,000 indigenous inhabitants were called upon to decide between independence and autonomy within Indonesia.

While the indigenous inhabitants opted massively for independence, settlers into the province fought violently against the decision, as did those who had aided the authorities during the 24 years of Indonesian rule.

There was therefore a massive exodus of those seeking to avoid the fighting, into the hills of East Timor and into West Timor. Many East Timorese with Indonesian connections together with other settlers and Indonesian loyalists fled to Indonesia. Since October 1999, some 170.000 of the approximately 300.000 refugees in West Timor have returned home. The plight of the remaining refugees, mingled with militia members, is precarious;

In the past 18 months ECHO has taken eight separate decision to cover the crisis in both East and West Timor for some 29.25 M EURO.

As UNTAET (United Nations Transitional Administration for East Timor) progresses and a nascent state slowly appears, it is appropriate to analyse if ECHO's activities were well targeted, are still needed, and, if so, where.

This evaluation must therefore examine the situation in East Timor in the light of what has happened to date as well as examine the correct approach for the Commission as a whole in the future, taking into account the ongoing international interest in the area as evidenced by the regular “donors” conferences.

3. CONSULTANT’S ROLE

Evaluation of humanitarian aid is a very important task for the European Commission, not only because of the considerable funds allocated to that purpose, but also because of its constant concern to improve the quality of its humanitarian aid and to use the credits allocated in an optimal way. During the course of the mission, whether on the ground or while the report is being drawn up, the consultant must demonstrate common sense as well as independence of judgement. He must provide answers that are both precise and clear to all points in the terms of reference, while avoiding the use of theoretical or academic language.

This evaluation is part of a global evaluation that should be carried out by a team of three experts with both experience in the humanitarian field and in the evaluation of humanitarian aid. These experts must agree to work in high-risk areas. Solid experience in relevant fields of work to the evaluation is also required. Excellent knowledge of English is compulsory and knowledge of Portuguese is obligatory for at least one member of the team. Knowledge of Bahasa-Indonesian would be an advantage.

The team members are responsible for the following sectors:

Mr. Michael Atkinson, team leader

- Responsible for the synthesis report
- Rehabilitation, repatriation, shelter and LRRD

Mr. Robert Soeters

- Health, Food and Nutrition

Mrs. Pam Minnigh

- Water & Sanitation

4. PURPOSE OF THE EVALUATION

The purpose of this evaluation is set out under points 4.1 to 4.8 below:

- 4.1. to assess the suitability of the operations in favour of the Timorese inhabitants, and the level at which the programmes in the various sectors of activity concerned have been implemented and monitored;
- 4.2. to assess the degree to which the objectives pursued have been achieved and the effectiveness of the means employed;

- 4.3. to quantify the impact of the operations in terms of outputs;
 - 4.4. to analyse ECHO's role in the decision-making process as well as in other activities for which Commission services are responsible;
 - 4.5. to check the European Commission's visibility in the regions benefiting from the aid as well as amongst the authorities, international community and partners;
 - 4.6. to analyse the link between emergency, rehabilitation and development;
 - 4.7. to analyse the extent to which Human Rights concerns have been addressed as far as ECHO's mandate is concerned;
 - 4.8. to establish precise and concrete proposals on the future funding of ECHO with a view to improving the effectiveness of future operations. The evaluation should cover the situation of the entire population in East Timor and identify those in need of humanitarian assistance in West Timor.

5. SPECIFIC EVALUATION OBJECTIVES

To this end, the consultant will develop the issues below for her own sector defined in chapter 3, and cover all points in her evaluation report. She will only take into account the new facts since the beginning of the operations. These specific issues must be studied in each sector evaluated as well as in the synthesis report.

- 5.1. A brief description of the operations and analysis of their context:
 - The political and social-economic situation and humanitarian needs.
 - The analysis of the region's present condition in political and socio-economic terms, should include an overview which permits situating the operations financed by ECHO. This analysis should be both quantitative and qualitative and contain information on the various economic sectors such as social and economic policies in force, the levels of income and its distribution among the refugee population, displaced or other; sanitation and medical policies, access to foodstuffs, etc.
 - The second part of the analysis should be devoted to identifying vulnerable groups and localising them, as well as giving an estimate of their needs by category.
 - The evaluation should also permit an appreciation of the capacities both of the local population and of local public authorities to deal with problems pinpointed.
- 5.2. Analysis of the relevance of the objectives of the operations, of the choice of the beneficiaries, and of the deployed strategy, in relation to identified needs.
- 5.3. Examination of the co-ordination and coherence for each of the sectors concerned with:
 - other donors and international operators, as well as with local authorities;
 - other European Commission services that might be operating in the same zone with projects that are similar or related to the operations. The projects identified should be described with their cost and with the aid elements they include;
 - the extent of the effectiveness of ECHO's co-ordination with the other actors;
- 5.4. Analysis of the effectiveness of the operations in quantitative and qualitative terms for each of the sectors;
- 5.5. Analysis of the cost-effectiveness of the operations. The cost-effectiveness has to be established, notably, on the basis of the quantitative elements that have been identified under

- point 5.4.
- 5.6. Analysis of the efficiency of the implementation of the operations. This analysis should cover:
 - the planning and mobilisation of aid;
 - the operational capacities of the partners;
 - the strategies deployed;
 - major elements of the operations such as: staff, logistics, maintenance of accounts, selection of recipients, suitability of the aid in the context of local practices, etc.;
 - management and storage of merchandise and installations;
 - quality and quantity of merchandise and services mobilised and their accordance with the contractual specifications (including packaging conditions, the origin of merchandise and the price);
 - the systems of control and auto-evaluation set up by the partners.
 - 5.7. Analysis of the impact of the operations. This analysis should be based on the following non-exclusive list of indicators, bearing in mind that consultants might well add others:
 - contribution to the reduction of human suffering;
 - creation of dependency on humanitarian aid;
 - effect of humanitarian aid on the local economy;
 - effect on the incomes of the local population;
 - effect on health and nutritional practices;
 - environmental effects;
 - impact of humanitarian programmes on local capacity-building
 - 5.8. Analysis of the visibility of the European Commission;
 - 5.9. Analysis of the integration of “gender issues” (social, economic and cultural analysis of the situation of both women and men) in the intervention;
 - 5.10. Analysis of the measures taken to assure the security of aid workers, both ex-patriate and local: means of communication placed at their disposal, specific protection measures, emergency evacuation plan;
 - 5.11. Analysis of the feasibility of setting up development and/or co-operation policies which could eventually replace humanitarian aid as provided to date, if so this should include a suggested timetable for such a replacement;
 - 5.12. On the basis of the results of the evaluation, the consultant will draw up operational recommendations on the needs of a humanitarian nature that might be financed by the European Community. These recommendations may also cover, if necessary, other domains than humanitarian aid, such as rehabilitation or development co-operation;
 - 5.13. Analysis of the methodology of programme planning used by ECHO for the Operations for the Timorese population should be included in the synthesis report;
 - 5.14. A drawing up of “lessons learned” which must also include the role of ECHO and other services of the Commission in the decision making process and monitoring.

6. WORKING METHOD

For the purpose of accomplishing their tasks, consultants may use information available at ECHO, via its correspondents on the spot, in other Commission services, the local Commission Delegation, ECHO partners on the spot and at their headquarters, aid beneficiaries, as well as local authorities and international organisations.

The consultant will analyse the information and incorporate it in a coherent report that responds to the objectives of the evaluation.

7. PHASES OF THE EVALUATION

The evaluation will last 34 days, beginning with the date of signature of the contract by the last party and ending no later than 30/04/2001 with the acceptance of the final reports.

- 7.1. A briefing at ECHO with the responsible staff for 2 days during which all the documents necessary for the mission will be provided. The day after the consultant will submit by e-mail to ECHO "Evaluation" a concise report of the briefing listing any clarifications to the terms of reference which will have to be taken into consideration during the mission;
- 7.2. A briefing with the Commission delegation in Jakarta.
- 7.3. The mission to the area concerned will last 20 days. The consultant must work with the Commission Delegation on the spot, the ECHO correspondent in Dili, the ECHO partners, local authorities, international organisations and other donors;
- 7.4. The consultant should devote the first day of his mission to the area concerned to preliminary and preparatory discussions with the ECHO correspondent and local ECHO partners;
- 7.5. The last day of the mission should be devoted to a discussion with the correspondent and ECHO partners for observations arising from the evaluation. The team will discuss the schema and the content of the synthesis report;
- 7.6. The draft report should be submitted by electronic transmission (Word 7.0 format or a more recent version) to ECHO "Evaluation" in Brussels at least ten days before its presentation and discussion during the debriefing;
- 7.7. A debriefing at ECHO of 2 days. The day after the consultant will submit by e-mail to ECHO "Evaluation" a concise report of the debriefing listing the points which he will have to take into consideration in amending his draft report;
- 7.8. Once the necessary amendments to the draft report, have been incorporated, the revised text will be resubmitted to ECHO "Evaluation", which should mark its agreement within 15 days or request further amendments;
- 7.9. Submission of the final report which should take account of any remarks, which may be made after the submission of the revised report.

A visit to the headquarters of the partners can be organised as needed before or after the mission to the area concerned.
