Methodology
Population & frame list	Population (universe)	Units that are registered in the Business register of the Republic of Slovenia with the corresponding activity, according to NACE Rev. 2 Division F 41, 42, 43 and have 11 or more employees. There are 707 units in the population.
	Survey sampling frame	Sources used: Business Register, Statistical Register of Employment, statistical data from other surveys.
	Size of frame list	There are 389 units in actual frame list.
	Weighted frame coverage	91%
	Characteristics	Identification, address, NACE code, number of employees, two stratification variables (employees and activity).
	Frame list update	The frame list is updated every year.
	Sectors and/or categories currently covered	NACE Rev. 2 division: F 41, 42, 43.
Sampling & accuracy	Sampling method	From 2006 - stratified sampling with simple random sampling; Sample is longitudinal panel without rotation, stratified by number of employees and activity.
	Sample size (number of contacts)	344 units
	Weighted sample coverage	The panel includes all large and medium-sized enterprises and 86% of small enterprises (or 87% of employees). The panel covers 88% of the enterprises of the studied population or 94% of employees in construction.
	Sampling error	Average annual (2014) standard error for confidence indicator is 1.37.
	Response rate	78% (2015 average)
	Treatment of non-response	If the enterprises do not answer to the questionnaires in the given time, we remind them by telephone from CATI studio. If we still don't get the answer, than the non-responses are processed during the calculation of the results.
	Weighting scheme	Responses to individual questions are weighted so that they reflect relative importance of individual enterprise in the sample. Inside divisions of the NACE Rev. 2 responses are weighted with the number of employees and sampling probability.
Data collection	Periodicity	Monthly
	Survey method	The survey is carried out by the electronic questionnaire and the questionnaire for telephone interviewing.
