Recommendation for a

COUNCIL DECISION

on the existence of an excessive deficit in Italy – Application of Article 104(6) of the Treaty establishing the European Community

(presented by the Commission)

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM

On 23 May 2005, Eurostat released revised figures on Italian government data, showing a general government deficit of 3.1% of GDP in both 2003 and 2004. The revision addressed some of the issues indicated in Eurostat's press release of 18 March on the March 2005 EDP notification. Over the same two years, the debt-to-GDP ratio is reported to have remained broadly stable at around 106-107% of GDP. On 24 May, the Italian institute of statistics (ISTAT) released new data that, while incorporating the above Eurostat's decisions, made additional slight upward revisions of deficit and debt figures over the 2000-2004 period. The deficit was reported at 3.2% of GDP in 2001, 2003 and 2004. The debt-to-GDP ratio was revised upward to 111.3% in 2000, 110.9% in 2001, 108.3% in 2002 and 106.8% in 2003, and confirmed at 106.6% in 2004. Before proceeding to validate the data, Eurostat is considering further information from the Italian authorities.

The application of the excessive deficit procedure (EDP) is governed by Article 104 of the Treaty and by Council Regulation (EC) No 1467/97 "on speeding up and clarifying the implementation of the excessive deficit procedure", which is part of the Stability and Growth Pact¹. In its assessment the Commission has taken due account of the 20 March 2005 Ecofin Report to the European Council on 'Improving the implementation of the Stability and Growth Pact', endorsed by the latter on 22 March 2005².

The Commission report according to Article 104(3) of the Treaty assessed the fulfilment of the Treaty requirements concerning the deficit and the debt criteria.

According to the figures for 2003 and 2004 reported so far, the deficit ratio has been above but close to the 3% of GDP reference value in both years. The excess of the 3% reference value in 2003 and 2004 took place in a situation of slow growth, which however cannot be qualified as exceptional in the sense of the Treaty and the SGP. The excess over the reference value cannot be considered temporary because the deficit, after exceeding the reference value in 2003 and 2004, is projected by the Commission to exceed it by a large margin in 2005 and 2006 based on the standard assumption of unchanged policies. The Commission services spring forecast projected a deficit of 3.6% of GDP in 2005 and 4.6% of GDP in 2006. In view of the deterioration in economic activity in the first quarter of 2005, which implies lower expected growth in 2005, and taking also into account the 29 April revision of the deficit target by the Italian authorities³, deficit projections are bound to be revised upwards. This suggests that the Treaty requirement concerning the deficit criterion is not fulfilled.

The high debt-to-GDP ratio, at around 106-107% of GDP in 2004, is clearly above the reference value of the Treaty and has not declined at a satisfactory pace over recent years. The pace of debt reduction has been affected by debt-increasing below the line operations, which, based on the government own projections, are expected to continue over the medium-term.

² See Presidency conclusions of the Brussels European Council of 22 and 23 March 2005 (7619/05) and the (Ecofin) Council report to the European Council of 20 March 2005 (7423/05).

Moreover, the present level of the primary surplus (below 2% of GDP in 2004), does not ensure a satisfactorily declining path of the debt ratio. This suggests that the Treaty requirement concerning the debt criterion is not fulfilled.

In its report in accordance to Article 104(3), the Commission also analysed relevant factors pertaining to the medium-term economic and budgetary positions, as well as others that appeared relevant to the assessment of public finances in Italy.

With a letter dated 6 June 2005, the Italian authorities put forward additional factors, relating specifically to the nature of the statistical revisions, the negative quarterly GDP growth rates recently experienced by Italy, the budgetary impact of the net contribution to the EU budget and the contribution to fostering international solidarity.

In its report of 20 March, the Council underlined that taking into account other relevant factors in the steps leading to the decision on the existence of an excessive deficit, thus including the Economic and Financial Committee opinion in accordance with Article 104(4), the Commission opinion in accordance with Article 104(5) and the Council decision in accordance with Article 104(6), “must be fully conditional on the overarching principle that – before other relevant factors are taken into account - the excess of the reference value is temporary and the deficit remains close to the reference value”. In the case of Italy, this condition is not met: the excess over the reference value cannot be considered temporary, although the deficit remained close to the reference value in 2003 and 2004. Therefore, for the purpose of the Commission opinion in accordance with Article 104(5) and the Council decision in accordance with Article 104(6), other relevant factors are not taken into account in the case of Italy.

Article 104(4) of the Treaty states that “the Committee provided for in Article 114 (i.e. the Economic and Financial Committee) shall formulate an opinion on the report of the Commission”. The Committee issued its opinion on 20 June 2005, confirming the assessment made by the Commission in its report. In particular, the Committee concluded that the budgetary developments in Italy in 2004 indicated the existence of an excessive deficit under both criteria foreseen by Article 104(2) for the identification of such deficits. The Committee also considered that, based on the standard assumption of unchanged policies and taking into account the deterioration in economic activity recorded in the first quarter of 2005, the general government deficit would continue to exceed the Treaty reference value in 2005 and 2006, and the general government gross debt would continue to remain well above the Treaty reference value of 60% of GDP. The Committee considered that both the high level of government debt and its slow pace of reduction are cause for concern, especially in view of the significant debt-increasing below-the-line operations in the past. While the Committee examined all other relevant factors, it concluded that these factors would not be taken into account in its assessment.

The Commission, having taken into account its report and having regard to the opinion of the Committee, is of the opinion that an excessive deficit exists in Italy. This opinion, adopted by the Commission on 29 June 2005, has been addressed to the Council, according to Article 104(5) of the Treaty. The Commission recommends that the Council shall decide accordingly, in conformity with Article 104(6) and herewith addresses a recommendation for a decision to that effect. In addition, the Commission is submitting to the Council a recommendation for a Council recommendation to be addressed to Italy with a view to bringing the situation of an excessive deficit to an end, according to Article 104(7) of the Treaty.

Recommendation for a

COUNCIL DECISION

on the existence of an excessive deficit in Italy – Application of Article 104(6) of the Treaty establishing the European Community

THE COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN UNION

Having regard to the Treaty establishing the European Community, and in particular Article 104(6) thereof,

Having regard to the recommendation from the Commission,

Having regard to the observations made by Italy,

Whereas:

- (1) According to Article 104 of the Treaty Member States are to avoid excessive government deficits.
- (2) The Stability and Growth Pact is based on the objective of sound government finances as a means of strengthening the conditions for price stability and for strong sustainable growth conducive to employment creation.
- (3) The excessive deficit procedure under Article 104 provides for a decision on the existence of an excessive deficit; The Protocol on the excessive deficit procedure annexed to the Treaty sets out further provisions relating to the implementation of the excessive deficit procedure. Council Regulation (EC) No 3605/93⁴ amended by Council Regulation (EC) No 475/2000⁵ and by Commission Regulation (EC) No 351/2002⁶ lays down detailed rules and definitions for the application of the provision of the said Protocol.
- (4) Article 104(5) of the Treaty requires the Commission to address an opinion to the Council if the Commission considers that an excessive deficit in a Member State exists or may occur. The Commission has addressed such an opinion on Italy to the Council on 29 June 2005. Having taken into account its report in accordance with Article 104(3) and having regard to the opinion of the Economic and Financial Committee in accordance with Article 104(4), the Commission concluded that there exists an excessive deficit in Italy. In delivering its assessment, the Commission has taken into account the 20 March 2005 Ecofin Report to the European Council on ‘Improving the implementation of the Stability and Growth Pact', endorsed by the latter on 22 March 2005⁷.

- (5) Article 104(6) of the Treaty lays down that the Council should consider any observations which the Member State concerned may wish to make before deciding, after an overall assessment, whether an excessive deficit exists. In the case of Italy, this overall assessment leads to the following conclusions.
- (6) According to the figures for 2003 and 2004 reported so far, the deficit ratio has been above but close to the 3% of GDP reference value in 2003 and 2004. The breach of the 3% of GDP Treaty reference value in 2003 and 2004 did not result from an unusual event outside the control of the Italian authorities, nor was it the result of a severe economic downturn in the sense of the Stability and Growth Pact. The rate of economic growth over the last three years was positive but low (0.4%, 0.3% and 1.2%, in 2002, 2003 and 2004, respectively). While the output gap is estimated to have turned from 2.1% of potential GDP in 2001 to -1.3% of potential GDP in 2004, the negative output gap in 2004 was smaller than the values recorded in previous downturns. As such, the situation of slow growth in 2003 and 2004 cannot be qualified as exceptional in the sense of the Treaty and the SGP.
- (7) The excess over the reference value cannot be considered temporary because the deficit, after exceeding the reference value in 2003 and 2004, is projected by the Commission to exceed it by a large margin in 2005 and 2006 under the standard no-policy change assumption. This indicates that the Treaty requirement concerning the deficit criterion is not fulfilled.
- (8) The debt-to-GDP ratio, at around 106-107% of GDP in 2004, is clearly above the reference value in the Treaty and has not declined at a satisfactory pace over recent years. The pace of debt reduction has been affected by debt-increasing below-the-line operations, which, based on the government own projections, are expected to continue over the medium-term. Moreover, the present level of the primary surplus (below 2% of GDP in 2004) does not ensure a satisfactorily declining path of the debt ratio. This indicates that the Treaty requirement concerning the debt criterion is not fulfilled.
- (9) Other relevant factors included in the Commission report in accordance to Article 104(3), as well additional ones put forward by the Italian authorities with their letter dated 6 June 2005, have been analysed by the Council. According to the 20 March 2005 Ecofin Report to the European Council on 'Improving the implementation of the Stability and Growth Pact', endorsed by the latter on 22 March 2005, taking into account other relevant factors in the Council decision on the existence of an excessive deficit in accordance with Article 104(6), "must be fully conditional on the overarching principle that – before other relevant factors are taken into account - the excess of the reference value is temporary and the deficit remains close to the reference value". In the case of Italy, this condition is not met. Therefore, for the purpose of the Council decision in accordance with Article 104(6), other relevant factors are not taken into account in the case of Italy.
