Subject Additional budget agreement 2014

Dear Mr. Rehn,

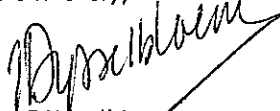

Please find enclosed an English translation of the additional budget agreement 2014 of the Netherlands. On Friday 11 October, the coalition parties together with a number of opposition parties (D66, ChristenUnie and SGP) reached this agreement. Together they constitute a majority in both chambers of parliament. The agreement facilitates the realisation of the common ambitions for economic growth and employment, sound public finances and a balanced income distribution.

The agreement presents a number of amendments to the Budget Memorandum 2014, which was included in the earlier reports to the European Commission, i.e. the Draft Budgetary Plan, the Effective Action Report and Economic Partnership Programme. Most notably, the agreement contains higher expenditure cutbacks and lower tax increases. At the same time environmental taxes are increased, enabling a reduction of the burden of income taxes and social contributions on labour. The agreement also includes higher spending on education and innovations, while a number of labour market measures will be adjusted and accelerated to strengthen its impact on a well-functioning labour market. Social partners have informed us that they support the adjustments and accelerations.

With broader political support, the Netherlands reconfirms its commitment to a substantial structural consolidation package of 6 billion euro (1 percent of GDP). The government is convinced that, in the light of the current economic situation, the 6 billion euro package is an effective and correct implementation of the recommendations within the framework of the excessive deficit procedure.

An analysis of the Netherlands Bureau for Economic Policy Analysis (CPB) indicates a very limited impact on the macroeconomic figures in the medium term. Hence, the macroeconomic scenario as presented in the 2014 Draft Budgetary Plan still contains the most comprehensive and up to date forecast for the Dutch economy.

Yours sincerely,

Jeroen Dijsselbloem
Minister of Finance of the Netherlands
