Two points.

One, why confuse the issue of credit in relation to student workload? HE has accepted 60 credits, introducing 120 for VE will simply make it more difficult to have progression from vocational quals to academic ones.

Two, and similarly, I see no mention of levels of achievement in the document. This should be clarified as a concept. The system should harmonize with the `EU qualifications scheme for HE if it is to have durability in the context of lifelong learning across the community.
