Title	MULTISTUDIES Multidisciplinary/multinational studies in Informatics –Automation – Robotics
New program / renewal? (please underline)	New program Renewal: 2nd year 3rd year
Subject area code	06 . 0, 11 . 3
Description	Information and Communication Technologies (ICT) and New and Emerging Technologies belong to the key actions in EU Framework and Educational projects. All these topics are closely connected with Automation and Robotics. The objectives of the project is a multidisciplinary approach to studies in high technologies, filling a gap of knowledge of modern science and engineering for students from partner universities. Robotics and Automation are lectured in quite a restricted number of universities, so it is an obstacle to the sustainable development of new technologies and competition in the world market. The aim of the project is to undertake an Intensive Programme of studies to enhance an international capacity in ICT and New Technologies studies. Target groups - students and teachers from Partner institutions where Robotics and Automation are not lectured, so it is an obstacle to the sustainable development of new technologies and competition in the world market. Objectives: To develop teaching materials as a part of integrated programme of study at least of one university leading to the recognised double or joint degree of Master Studies. To create a website to provide a preparatory information for all participating partners in the IP. To develop virtual teaching materials available for attendees and non-attendees in the IP course. To disseminate the results of IP studies to a wider audience. To enhance the quality and reinforce the European dimension of higher education.

Title	A BETTER TOMORROW
New program / renewal? (please underline)	New program Renewal: 2nd year 3rd year
Subject area code	14 . 0
Description	An objective of the project is to make interdisciplinary students aware and to empower them together to make 'a better tomorrow' possible. This can be done by making students more conscious about actual and common social issues in a Europe under construction. Students will discuss issues related to citizenship (diversity, migration), social cohesion (public safety, inclusion / exclusion, equality, aging / generation problems), and 'glocalism' (local + global, identity). The IP target groups are Social work, Health students, Economic, Technical students, Education, and Teacher training students. During 3 year IP implementation 150 students from different disciplines and 30 members of teaching staff will implement their knowledge in wide range of social issues, discussed in European Union. Working in interdisciplinary groups students and teaching staff teams will make their input in their opinion and knowledge formation what let them generate innovative proposals to the EU institutions how to improve the support for social cohesion. The project partners and IP itself will contribute to the training of new European generation with developed active citizenship characteristics. During 3 year IP implementation we plan to prepare and publish reports of every session (3 volumes), where will be put together the participants' findings, providences, conclusions, and set questions for next IP meetings. The project partners are going to publish newspaper and leaflets about enrichment and renewal of social cohesion in European society. In the end of the IP the partners plan to prepare and publish final book with generated recommendations to the EU institutions how to improve the support for social cohesion, also experts' and teaching staff publications concerning IP project implementation, produced teaching material, academic and personal achievements of the members of target groups, and methodological recommendations how to motivate students to assist in IP projects.

Title	WASPOLSS Tracking New European Ways in Social Policy, Legal and Social Services
New program / renewal? (please underline)	New program Renewal: 2nd year 3rd year
Subject area code	14. 0, 10. 7
Description	The main aim of the IP is to deepen and broaden professional understanding of the effectiveness of comparative interdisciplinary intercultural approaches in searching for the new ways of social policy, legal and social services in European Union. Undergraduate students and teachers will share knowledge, information and experience from different countries in the field of social policy, legal and social services provision, will discuss similarities and differences in EU social policy, legal and social services issues; by means of traditional and active learning didactics they will deepen understanding the necessity of EU further development, will search for and outline the new possible ways for EU future; will develop course materials on EU social policy, legal and social services issues for use in each of the partner's institutions. The IP consists from four interconnected topics: Theory of Legal and Social Services, Practices of Legal and Social Services, Comparative Social Policy, Intercultural issues in direct relation to the IP content. Students will actively participate in lectures-theoretical inputs and seminars-discussions, will write projects and prepare handbook in group work, will exercise intercultural communication skills in the workshops. Students will develop their information literacy competences by learning and communicating in Moodle ICT environment.

Title	MUSTUFE.Play music, Study and Enjoy - The International Festival of Chamber Music

New program / renewal? (please underline)	New program Renewal: 2nd year 3rd year
Subject area code	03 . 2, 03 . 3
Description	Chamber music is one of the fields which allow the establishment of the newest teaching methods and the exchange of performers' experience. Initiators of this project came up with the idea of an "International Chamber Music Festival" as means of integrating study programs, renewing teaching methods, and exchanging concert experience. The target groups of IP are undergraduate students of music performance at higher musical education institutions. Participants will form chamber ensembles at their institutions and will have to prepare a musical programme which will be performed during the first week concerts of IP. They also will have to prepare the different parts of the works, which were included in the festival concert repertoire. During the event, these musical compositions will be practiced with new partners, and consulted by foreign teachers. During second week of the IP prepared works will be performed by international chamber ensembles. Project will allow participants to collect international music literature and to gain experience of applying different teaching methods. The study programs will be enriched with works of composers from different countries; students will improve their international co-operation and concert-performing skills, which will be useful in their work later on when they become professional performers or teachers.
