Masters Course running the Partnership

NOHA MUNDUS – European Masters Degree in International Humanitarian Aid

Duration: 3 years

Summary description

The objectives of the NOHA Mundus Partnership which follow from the general objectives of the NOHA Erasmus Mundus Master's Course are:

- To establish and develop a framework for cooperation and students and scholars mobility between the NOHA Mundus institutions and a selected number of third-country universities and programmes.
- To respond to the challenges raised by the new environment in which international humanitarian action works and to further the development of humanitarian assistance education through an agreed programme of joint research and training.
- To advance in cooperation at world level by a common understanding of the importance of international humanitarian action and its developments through courses jointly designed and elaborated.
- To enhance the quality of European higher education by fostering co-operation with third countries in order to improve the development of human resources and to promote dialogue and exchange for a better understanding between peoples and cultures.

The duration of the Partnership is three years. The institutions involved are the seven European NOHA Network members (Université Catholique de Louvain, Belgium, Université d'Aix-Marseille III, France, Ruhr-Universität Bochum, Germany, University College of Dublin, Ireland, Universidad de Deusto, Spain, University of Uppsala, Sweden, and University of Groningen, The Netherlands) and the following third-country institutions: York University, Canada, Saint-Joseph University, Beyrouth, Lebanon, Universidade de Brasilia, Universitas Gadjah Mada, Indonesia, Universidad Javeriana, Bogotá, Colombia, University of Western Cape, Monash University.

The third country higher education institutions will provide an input during the last component of the NOHA Mundus programme (D. Research and Work Placement Component) during the months from July through to September.
