

HOW CAN SCHOOL COMMUNITIES HELP TO PREPARE YOUNG PEOPLE TO BE RESPONSIBLE CITIZENS IN LINE WITH FUNDAMENTAL VALUES SUCH AS PEACE AND TOLERANCE OF DIVERSITY?

Have you ever thought of what it means to be a responsible citizen? There is a lot of characteristics which responsible citizens must have, but the most important are the fundamental values such as peace and tolerance of diversity in our daily life.

Parents have the most responsibility to raise their children to become good persons. At the same time school helps in this education, due to the fact that children spend most of days in school. Consequently, should all schools have more subjects which are concerned with human relationships, seeing that pupils would know more about other cultures and moreover, diversity would not be alien to them.

Secondly, schools should emphasize more the fundamental values because I think schools are occupied only with feeding us knowledge, which certainly will not help us in our future.

Thirdly, pupils get punishment for intolerance towards different people, which is good in view of the fact that punishment means spending more time with those people. It is a good way to recognise their precise and not hurting them anymore.

To put it briefly, school can help students to become good, tolerant, peaceful and responsible persons in many different ways.
