About the Company

JPP provides clients with e-marketing services, either on a consulting basis or as an agency that you can outsource complete projects to or as a long term outsourced e-marketing services provider, taking care of your entire internet marketing needs and working closely with your in house marketing or senior management.

Based in Limassol, Cyprus, JPP Marketing helps Cyprus businesses improve their online presence and optimise their websites to not only improve the customer experience but increase conversions. JPP also develops and manages online advertising campaigns, both paid search and other relevant banner advertising for your market, to provide return on investment. We actively encourage education and training of our clients' staff in e-marketing initiatives. We can provide analytics support to web developers and agencies for measurement of website performance and assessment of marketing activities and campaigns against targeted objectives.
