Nomination as an Ambassador	Susanne Holl is a very active woman and would like to pass on her experience to other women. It is part of her nature to support other women. Many women have ideas and they would like to realise them. What these women are missing is some knowledge but most of all confidence and support. She believes in women and she would like to make them more confident and support them in their decisions. To be independent in business does not mean only advantages but also some disadvantages. There is the responsibility for the employees and the success of the whole company. But everything is manageable and after a while there are more advantages than disadvantages.
