Nomination as an Ambassador	After 25 years of work she almost forgot that she's a woman in the business world. She found herself in the 21st century realizing that most of women today, as well as women's entrepreneurship, was still somewhere in the 20th century. That was the reason she decided to join this project, to give support to young women in the women's entrepreneurship. She thinks that the encouragement of women entrepreneurship is not just networking, but also a silent lobbying for women's place in the men's business world.

Raising awareness	From a young ambitious woman who studied psychology, it was very unexpected to step into the world of hospitality & gastronomy. She herself also never thought that she would end up doing what she has been successfully doing now, but that's life.
