I have two beautiful and smart kids who look exactly like me and that I’m very proud of. I’m a strong woman devoted to family and professional fulfillment. I’m a promoter of good construction, without burning the surface of steps, starting my career as an economist, later becoming a chartered accountant, tax consultant, assessor and auditor of international finance. I have received recognition from professional organizations (the degree of excellence ANEVAR and CECCAR) and I felt that I can do more. True to the principle of lifelong learning and adherent of the classical thesis that united study economics at the right, I attended law school studies. Connected to the realities of the day, I noticed the existing void in the field and I started to agree on financial and tax advice. My proven success convinced me that I need to share my experience as an ambassador of women's entrepreneurship. I believe that nothing is impossible if you have expertise, willpower and intelligence necessary to achieve the intended purpose!„
