Inspired by the Munro mountains of Scotland, Munro Connections was founded by Jane M Fowler, a marketing graduate with over 25 years experience in strategic business growth.

As a business development professional, Jane has worked all over the world for multi national corporations, start up and University spin out companies plus small and medium sized organisations, in a broad range of industries including: Information Technology, Healthcare, Financial Services and Agricultural Diversification.

With a passion for rural enterprise Jane has studied the rural business economy at Askham Bryan Agricultural college, keeps rare breed sheep and competes her horse regularly.

Through Munro Connections Jane and her associates aim to work in partnership with clients, maximising their resources, delivering successful outcomes, achieving their peaks.
