Servane is a Social Business Development Professional and founder of OGUNTE, a women-focused social innovations development company that was launched 10 years ago in the Netherlands and established in the UK in 2007.

Being an ambassador for female entrepreneurship is her second nature, as her motto is: "A Better World. Powered by Women."

Servane's expertise lies in enabling women and their organisations to tackle social, cultural and environmental issues, implement bold and innovative systemic solutions, connect with appropriate stakeholders and finally measure their social impact. Her customers say she has helped them gain confidence, leadership and management skills, visibility and access finance and robust resources to make a positive and sustainable impact in the world.

She has closely helped over 2000 women so far, in Europe and South America, directly impacting over 200000 individuals and organisations.

She is a Board Director at Social Enterprise London, an RSA fellow, and a Common Purpose graduate. A Results Coaching System Executive Coach, a certified Social Enterprise Adviser and a member of the Association for Coaching, co-leading on its sustainable development group, she holds an MA in Modern Dutch Studies and Sociolinguistics.

She was highly commended Social Enterprise Mentor of the year in 2007 by the Newstatesman and awarded by the Global Women Inventors and Innovators Network in 2009 for her contribution to the sector. A nominee for the Association for Coaching Honorary Award for Social Innovation 2011. Network of Aspiring Women Awards 2011, finalist in the category Women's Advocate.

She speaks French, English, Portuguese, and Dutch.
