| Nomination as an Ambassador | She had practiced successfully in several professions until she had found her "dream job" by setting up her own coaching business. She has never regretted the leap from an assured profession as a commercial employee in a high position into an uncertain future as an entrepreneur. She would encourage women to follow their "subject of the heart" to develop their own niche and then build a targeted existence. |
| About the company | Success in business always has something to do with how people communicate with each other. Thus interpersonal communication with individual expression succeeds with support - from UNGER DIALOGUE. A comprehensive coaching and training programme specialising in personal development, presenting & moderating, leadership and resources, managing stress and health and conflict management has been devised by Magdalena Unger and her team. Participants at the seminars learn to cope with balancing the challenges of professional and private life with a variety of specific techniques including breathing technique, vocal training and rhetoric. |
| Raising awareness | In the first years of starting her own business, she was active in the Business Professional Network Munich and in other women's networks where she had the opportunity to discuss with other network members their desire to start her own business and could offer first-hand advice. Colleagues from within the networks have asked Magdalena to provide them with business start-up coaching. |
