

Public consultation - Update for units of measurement directive

Subject : Measurements

Can you explain why the EU is so determined to make the whole of Europe the same. There is absolutely no reason why every country should use metric measurements this is simply bureaucracy gone mad. Each country should decide what they want and if the UK electorate want to keep pints, miles etc so be it.

Jean Shaw