Public Consultation on a proposal for a Commission Communication on Integrated Maritime Policy for the Atlantic Ocean sea basin

1. Objective

In the context of the IMP progress report, the General Affairs Council called for further development of the strategic approaches to regional sea basins where there is a demand and a perspective of clear value added.

In this context, the Commission is currently reflecting on the possible content for a Communication on the Atlantic Ocean. Such a Communication would only be appropriate if it provides value added and is useful for Atlantic stakeholders. It is for this purpose that the Commission has launched a public consultation

2. Who has access to your contribution and to whom is it disclosed?

This survey is anonymous. Each reply will be assigned a random processing number to avoid collecting any technical identification of participants. The data controller certifies that the above information is correct and guarantees that the results will be used in an aggregated form that will not allow the identification of individuals within a response category
