Dear Madam/ Sir,

Please put your effort towards a better fish welfare.

Fish slaughter should be quick and painless, just as the law proscribes for other animals. It has been proven that a fish can feel pain, stress and fear too - therefore the unседated slaughter of all fish should be banished immediately.

Also, minimum welfare standards should be written, implemented, followed and frequently assessed and updated for the welfare of fish in aquacultures. There are no minimum standards for housing, handling, feeding and breeding for fish. As long as those standards, that include humane slaughter, are not made and followed, fish in aquaculture can never be a sustainable alternative for seafish.

Please also see whether the ever growing advertisements for the acids Omega 3, 6 that can be obtained from fat fish. These can also be obtained from animal friendly alternatives, like algea, walnut oil and flaxseed oil.

Wakker Dier will keep campaigning to improve the lives and slaughter of fish.

Yours sincerely,
