

Question 14: What should transparency for consumers consist of? Should the standards currently applied be further improved?

Answer - Traffic management should be deprecated, and maybe punishable, but where it exists to the slightest degree consumers must be made aware. The provision of graduated fines needs to be considered within an EU regulatory framework.

--

Luke Brandt