

Alexandre Dulaunoy has joined SES ASTRA S.A, Luxembourg as Information Technology Security Officer in 2004. Before joining SES ASTRA, he was the CTO and co-founder of Conostix S.A., a startup working on Security Information Management. Alexandre is also an intermittent network and security researcher at the Computer Security Research and Response Team Luxembourg. He is also lecturer in software engineering and information security at the University Paul Verlaine in France, University of Luxembourg and various Research Centre in Europe. He is the author and co-author of publications and reports in the fields of information and network security, honeypot research and information society.