

Philippe COUSIN, ETSI Services Sales Director

Philippe COUSIN has 25 years of experience in Telecommunications. Many years at various positions (operational fields, R&D, Standardisation (ETSI, ITU), testing methodologies,...) within a large telecom operator (i.e. France Telecom). Seconded to the European Commission DG Information Society and DG Enterprise as Project officer within a large EU programme supporting standardization, testing and certification policies. Developed and launched a brand new EU programme (INTOOL: Infrastructural Tool) supporting horizontal testing methodologies. Project manager (1995-1997) at EOTC (European Organisation for Testing and Certification). European Commission expert in testing and certifications policies for EU and with third countries (e.g CEEC, China, ...) Technical Director and Managing Director (1997-2001) of a test house, CETECOM France part of the CETECOM group leader in Mobile area testing. For 6 years head of ETSI Interoperability Service where he has organised interoperability initiatives with +70 interoperability events including many worldwide IPv6 Interoperability events. Member and contributor of the IPv6 Ready logo programme where ETSI got an award from this programme in 2008. Today ETSI Sales director on Standards-Enabling Services. Involved in Many EU R&D projects. Technical Director of the EU FP6 GO4IT project addressing IPv6 testing and TTCN-3 open source test platform.