EXPLANATORY NOTE

The Data Protection Panel is an informal arrangement between the U.S. and the EU data protection authorities (DPA), providing a framework for delivering advice to U.S. organisations that are participating in the "Safe Harbor", recognised by the EU to provide for an adequate level of protection for the transfer of personal data. Each U.S. organisation that publicly declares to abide by the "Safe Harbor Privacy Principles" is responsible to comply with them. Should they fail to comply with the principles, the individual in the EU has the right to introduce a complaint to the Data Protection Panel if the U.S. organisation in question has accepted to co-operate with the national data protection authorities. (This information is visible in the list of organisations that have joined the "Safe Harbor", kept by the U.S. Department of Commerce at <https://safeharbor.export.gov/list.aspx>)

- (a) Any complaint found admissible will be assigned a reference number. An acknowledgement bearing the reference number, which should be quoted in any correspondence, will be sent to the complainant.
- (b) The Panel will endeavour to give advice on the substance within 90 days of registration of the complaint with its secretariat.
- (c) The Secretariat will keep the complainant informed of the course of his complaint.
- (d) The complainant will be notified in advance by the officer handling the case if it plans to propose that the Panel closes the case.

HANDLING OF COMPLAINTS

To know what procedures will be followed by the Data Protection Panel during the handling of the complaint, please refer to the following document: internal operating procedures of the "panel" foreseen in FAQs 5 and 9 of the U.S. "Safe Harbor", posted in the library section of the panel's website at http://ec.europa.eu/justice/data-protection/document/international-transfers/adequacy/index_en.htm#h2-13 (see also http://ec.europa.eu/justice/data-protection/document/international-transfers/adequacy/files/ussh/dp_panel_procedures_en.pdf).
