COMMISSION

Amended proposal for a Council Directive on the protection of young people at work ⁽¹⁾

(93/C 77/01)

COM(93) 35 final — SYN 383

(Submitted by the Commission pursuant to Article 149 (3) of the EEC Treaty on 5 February 1993)

THE COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN CUMUNITIES,

Unchanged

Having regard to the Treaty establishing the European Economic Community, and in particular Article 118A thereof,

Having regard to the proposal from the Commission,

In cooperation with the European Parliament,

Having regard to the opinion of the Economic and Social Committee,

Whereas Article 118A of the Treaty provides that the Council shall adopt, by means of directives, minimum requirements for encouraging improvements, especially in the working environment, to ensure a better level of protection of the safety and health of workers;

Whereas, under the terms of that Article, those directives are to avoid imposing administrative, financial and legal constraints in a way which would hold back the creation and development of small and medium-sized undertakings;

Whereas the directives on health and safety at work and particularly Council Directive 89/391/EEC ⁽¹⁾, contain provisions designed to improve the health and safety of workers in general; whereas, in particular, Council Directive 80/1107/EEC of 27 November 1980 on the protection of workers from the risks related to exposure to chemical, physical and biological agents at work ⁽¹⁾, as last amended by Directive 88/642/EEC ⁽²⁾, and Commission Directive 91/322/EEC ⁽³⁾ envisage the establishment of limit values on exposure at work;

Whereas the special situation of young people at work and the special nature of the risks to which they are subject, in particular in view of their lack of experience, make it necessary to have specific additional provisions geared to the needs of young people at work;

Whereas a fair balance has to be struck between the definition of a basis of minimum provisions for ensuring the protection of young people at work, in order to avoid abuse, and the necessary flexibility of working and employment conditions.

Whereas point 20 in particular of the Community Charter of the Fundamental Social Rights of Workers, adopted by the Heads of State or Government of 11 of the Member States of the European Community at the European Council in Strasbourg on 9 December 1989, states that, subject to derogations limited to certain light work, the minimum employment age must not be lower than the minimum school-leaving age and, in any case, not lower than 15 years;

Whereas under point 22 of the said Charter, appropriate measures must be taken to adjust labour regulations applicable to young workers so as to meet their specific development and vocational training and access to employment needs; whereas the duration of work of workers under the age of 18 must be limited — without it being possible to circumvent this limitation through recourse to overtime — and night work prohibited, save in the case of certain jobs laid down in national legislation or regulations;

Whereas point 23 of the said Charter stresses that vocational training for young workers should take place during working hours;

Whereas, in its resolution on child labour ⁽⁴⁾, the European Parliament summarized the various aspects of work by young people and stressed its effects on their health, safety and physical and intellectual development, and pointed to the need to adopt a Community directive harmonizing national legislation in the field;

Whereas, to ensure that young people are not allowed to work before reaching an appropriate age, it is necessary for Member States to ban work below a minimum age; whereas any derogation from this ban must be restricted to certain specific light work where there is no risk of harming the health and safety of children;

Whereas, in order to protect the health and safety of young people, Member States should take the necessary measures to ensure that a prior evaluation of risks affecting young people in particular is carried out and the results of this evaluation are communicated to those concerned;

Whereas exposure on the part of young people to certain physical, chemical or biological agents and to certain processes, and assignment to such work, affects the health and safety of young people; whereas it is therefore appropriate to place a ban on such work;

Whereas certain types of activity and certain working conditions may affect the health of young people; whereas steps should therefore be taken to arrange their working conditions and working time accordingly;

Whereas working time must be adapted to the specific requirements of the physical development of the young people addressed by this Directive; whereas, again with a view to protecting the health and safety of young people, there should be a minimum set of provisions on night work for young people;

Whereas, although derogations from the bans and limitations imposed by this Directive would appear indispensable for certain activities or particular situations, applications thereof must not prejudice the principles underlying the established protection system;

Whereas it is important to ensure that young workers are properly protected against accidents at work and occupational diseases; whereas such protection must include, in accordance with the provisions in force in the Member States, cover in respect of these risks;

Whereas the system of protection envisaged by this Directive requires, for its effective application, the imposition of sanctions by the Member States,

for Member States to ban work below a minimum age; whereas any derogation from this ban must be restricted to certain specific light work where there is no risk of harming the health and safety of children or of prejudicing their attendance at school or their capacity to benefit from the instruction given at school;

Whereas a link should be established between education and the labour market so that the minimum age for taking up work corresponds to the age of completion of compulsory schooling;

Unchanged

Whereas the exposure of young people to certain physical, chemical or biological agents and to certain processes, and assignments to such work, affects the health and safety of young people; whereas it is therefore essential to place a ban on such work;

Unchanged

Whereas working time must be adapted to the specific requirements of the physical development of the young people addressed by the Directive; whereas, again with a view to protecting the health and safety of young people, there should be a general ban on night work for young people;

AMENDED PROPOSAL

HAS ADOPTED THIS DIRECTIVE:

Article 1

Scope

This Directive shall apply to all persons under 18 years of age working for one or more employers, except those working on a limited or occasional basis for their family.

This Directive shall apply to all persons under 18 years of age working for one or more employers.

Article 2

Definitions

For the purposes of this Directive:

- (a) 'employer' means any natural or legal person who has an employment relationship with the young worker;
- (b) 'young person' means any person under 18 years of age:
 - 'adolescent' means any young person of at least 15 years of age but less than 18 years of age,
 - 'child' means any young person of less than 15 years of age;
- (c) 'working time' means any period during which the young person is at work and carrying out his activities or duties in accordance with national legislation and/or practice. Where a young person is employed by more than one employer, working hours and working days shall be accumulated;
- (d) 'light work' means all work which does not cause any abnormal fatigue whether as a consequence of the inherent nature of the tasks to be performed or as a consequence of the particular conditions under which they must be performed.

Unchanged

- 'adolescent' means any young person of at least 15 years of age but less than 18 years of age who is no longer undergoing full-time compulsory education,
- 'child' means any young person who is less than 15 years of age or who is still undergoing full-time compulsory education;
- (c) 'working time' means any period during which the young person is at work and carrying out his activities or duties in accordance with national legislation and/or practice;
- (d) 'light work' means all work which, as a consequence of the inherent nature of the tasks to be performed or of the particular conditions under which they must be performed, neither harms the health and development of young people nor affects their attendance at school or their capacity to benefit from the instruction given at school.

Article 3

Restrictions due to age

1. Member States shall ensure that the employer shall provide young persons with working conditions which are appropriate to their age and which will, in particular, avoid damage to their physical and psychological development.

2. Member States shall adopt the necessary measures to prohibit child work. Such provisions shall not be an obstacle to:

Unchanged

ORIGINAL COMMISSION PROPOSAL

AMENDED PROPOSAL

- (a) children pursuing the activities set out in Article 4;
- (b) children working in an undertaking under a combined work/training scheme such as an apprenticeship or work experience placements;
- (c) children of not less than 13 years of age performing light work.

3. Derogations from point (c) of paragraph 2 may be granted for limited periods, taking account of established national practice and traditions, provided such derogations do not compromise the objectives of this Directive.

*Article 4Cultural and similar activities

The employment of children in cultural, artistic, sports and advertising activities shall be subject to prior authorization, the conditions of which shall be determined by the competent authorities of the Member States.

*Article 5Evaluation — information

1. The provisions of Directive 89/391/EEC shall apply to all young persons addressed by this Directive.

In applying these provisions the employer shall take account of any specific risk to the physical and mental health and safety of the young persons as well as the possible repercussions for their development.

2. Without prejudice to the provisions of Directive 89/391/EEC, and in particular Articles 6, 7, 10 and 12 thereof, young persons shall be evaluated in relation to the nature, degree and duration of exposure within an undertaking of all activity liable to present a specific risk of exposure to agents and procedures of which a non-exhaustive list is set out in Annex I.

The young persons shall be informed of the results of this evaluation and of all measures taken concerning their health and safety at work.

Deleted

Unchanged

The employment of children in cultural, artistic, sports and advertising activities shall be subject to prior authorization. The procedure leading to such authorization and the conditions of work, in particular working hours, shall be determined by the Member States.

Unchanged

2. Without prejudice to the provisions of Directive 89/391/EEC, and in particular Articles 6, 7, 10 and 12 thereof, and before a young person is assigned to a particular job, the employer shall evaluate the nature, degree and duration of exposure within the undertaking concerned, in respect of any activity liable to present a specific risk of exposure to agents, processes or working conditions of which a non-exhaustive list is set out in Annex I.

The employer shall inform the young persons and their parents or legal guardians, in writing, of the possible risks involved and of all measures taken concerning the young persons' health and safety at work.

ORIGINAL COMMISSION PROPOSAL

AMENDED PROPOSAL

Article 6

The employer shall involve the preventive service referred to in Article 7 of Directive 89/391/EEC in the planning, implementation and monitoring of the safety and health conditions of young peoples' work.

Unchanged

Consequences of the results of evaluation and health surveillance

1. Where the results of the evaluation referred to in Article 5 indicate a risk to the safety or to the physical or mental health of the young person, notably an effect on his development, the employer shall take the necessary measures in terms of working conditions and/or working time to prevent such exposure on the part of young people.

2. Where it is technically or objectively impossible to modify working conditions and/or working time, the employer shall take the necessary measures to provide the young persons with a change of job.

Exceptions may be allowed for certain specified categories of work which are essential to the vocational training of adolescents.

3. Prior to exposure and at regular intervals thereafter, appropriate medical surveillance shall be provided for young workers in respect of whom the results of the evaluation referred to in Article 5 indicate the existence of a specific risk to their safety or physical or mental health, notably a possible effect on their development.

*Article 7Exposure ban

Without prejudice to the provisions of Directives 80/1107/EEC and 91/322/EEC, young persons may in no case be required to perform activities where the evaluation has revealed a risk of exposure to agents and procedures envisaged by Annex II which would put the young person's safety or physical or mental health in jeopardy.

Without prejudice to the provisions of Directives 80/1107/EEC and 91/322/EEC, young persons shall not perform activities where the evaluation has revealed a risk of exposure to agents and processes referred to in Annex II which would put the young person's safety or physical or mental health in jeopardy.

Exceptions may be allowed only for certain specified categories of work which are essential to the vocational training of adolescents, provided that the work is carried out under the supervision of a competent person within the meaning of Article 7 of Directive 89/391/EEC.

Article 8

Unchanged

Duration of work

1. The duration of work performed by children and adolescents who are in full-time education shall be restricted to 15 hours per week and to three hours on a school day for light work.

1. The duration of work performed by young persons who are in full-time education shall be restricted to 15 hours per week and to two and three hours on a school day for children and adolescents, respectively, for light work.

Such work may be performed only outside the hours fixed for school attendance and only provided that it is not such as to prejudice their attendance at school or their capacity to benefit from the instruction given at school.

Unchanged

2. Working time for young persons who are not undergoing full-time compulsory education or young persons working during their school holidays may not exceed eight hours per day or 40 hours per week.

2. Working time for adolescents, young persons participating in a combined work/training scheme or young persons working during their school holidays may not exceed eight hours per day or 40 hours per week.

3. The time spent attending school for training as part of a combined work/training scheme shall be counted as working time.

Unchanged

4. Where there are objective reasons for so doing, derogations from the provisions of paragraph 2 may be allowed subject to the agreement of the authority competent to determine the terms of the derogations and provided such derogations do not call into question the objectives of this Directive.

Unchanged

*Article 9Night work

1. Without prejudice to the provisions of Article 4, young persons may not be employed between 20.00 hours and 06.00 hours.

2. Exceptions to the ban on night work set out in paragraph 1 may be authorized by legislative or regulatory process in specified sectors provided that no work is performed between midnight and 04.00 hours.

2. Exceptions to the ban on night work set out in paragraph 1 may be authorized by legislative or regulatory process in specified sectors, for adolescents or young persons participating in combined work/training schemes, where this is essential to achieving the training objectives. In such cases, work must be performed under the supervision of an adult worker. Work shall be prohibited between midnight and 04.00 hours.

3. Prior to any assignment to night work, and at regular intervals thereafter, young persons must be given an assessment, free of charge, of their health and capabilities.

*Article 12Rest period

Any working period of four and a half consecutive hours shall be followed by a rest period of not less than 30 minutes.

*Article 13Protection from occupational accidents and diseases

Member States shall adopt the necessary measures to ensure that young persons are adequately protected in respect of occupational accident and disease. Young persons must be insured against such risks in accordance with the laws, regulations and administrative provisions in force in the Member States.

*Article 14Sanctions

Each Member State shall determine the penalties to be imposed in the event of failure to comply with the Adolescents or young persons working during their school holidays or young persons participating in combined work/training schemes shall have two consecutive rest days per week and a rest period of 12 consecutive hours, or 14 consecutive hours in the case of children, during each 24-hour period.

Unchanged

Adolescents or young persons participating in combined work/training schemes shall receive annual leave of at least five weeks.

Pay relating to annual leave shall be determined in accordance with the conditions laid down by national legislation and/or practice.

Under no circumstances may the duration of annual leave be less than that granted to adults.

Member States shall take the necessary steps to ensure that young people working more than four and a half hours per day enjoy a rest period of at least 30 minutes.
