Labor market policy. What works and how do we find out?

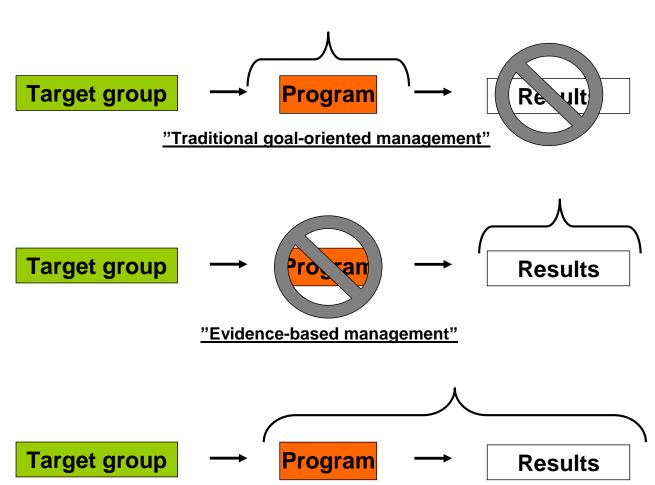

by Pernille Kofoed Pedersen

More focus on evidence-based performance management

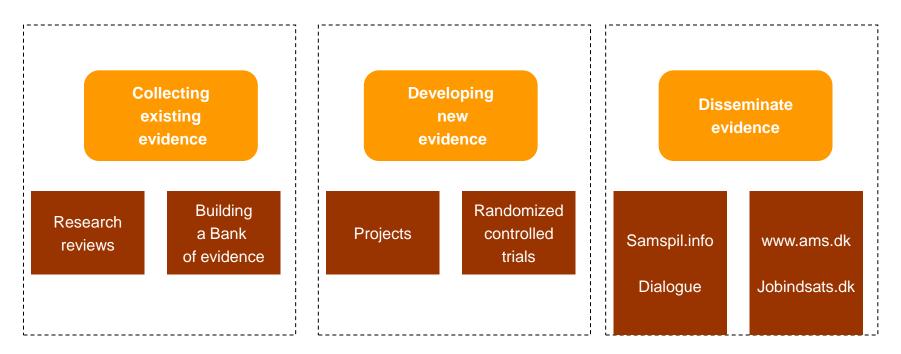

"Process management"

Strategy for building up evidence

A systematic approach

Collecting existing evidence

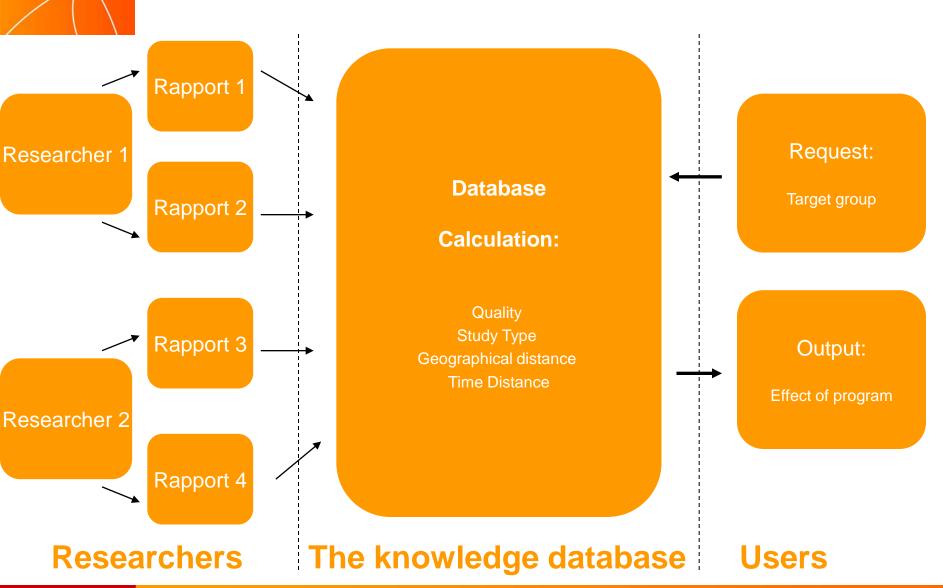

Knowledge database

Research reviews

The knowledge database

Developing knowledge

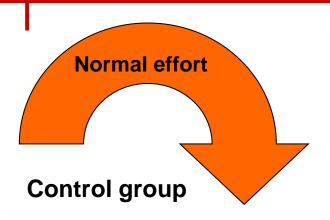

Controlled experiments

Randomized controlled trials

Extra = "What we want to test"

Communicating knowledge

Channels to share knowledge:

"Sampil"-articles

Knowledge database

Campaigns

Research reviews

An example

- ✓ There is evidence that temporary private wage subsidy gets people into jobs more quickly and that it is the tool with the greatest effect.
- 1. High reimbursement from state to municipalities
- 2. Firm-based job training