ANNEX TO THE PRESIDENCY CONCLUSIONS

“Prague Memorandum on Volunteering in Sport”

Following the EU Sport Directors Meeting in Prague, on April 28-29, 2009 in the presence of the European Commission, the Czech EU Presidency affirms that the Sport Directors:

- Welcomed the reference to volunteering in the Treaty of Lisbon in article 165 and invited the European Commission to interpret the legal and political significance of this section in order to structure future discussions.
- Emphasised that the specific characteristics of sport mentioned in the Lisbon Treaty should be defined in more detail and also concentrate on the specificity of the voluntary non-profit sports movement.
- Expressed appreciation for the Finnish Presidency priorities in the area of voluntary non-profit sport organisations in 2006 and noted with satisfaction the Declaration of EU Sport Ministers under the French Presidency in 2008 which took into consideration the specific characteristics of sport and called for clearer legal guidelines on the application of EU law to sport organisations.
- Recognised that the largest amount of voluntary activity in the European Union takes place in the sport sector and that organised sport in the EU is built on specific non-profit making governing structures at grass-roots level, heavily reliant on the commitment of volunteers.
- Underlined the crucial importance of public funding for voluntary non-profit sport structures and expressed the wish that the Commission’s study on the financing of grassroots sport will provide comparable data on this question.
- Emphasized the importance of the EU Working Group on Non-Profit Sport Organisations and welcomed the participation of representatives of non-profit sport organisations in this working group.
- Based on the Survey on Volunteering in Sport carried out by the Czech Presidency, acknowledged that the voluntary sector is differently organized in different EU Member States, but that there are common concerns as well as examples of mechanisms that are already applied in practice, such as :
  - specific legislation on voluntary activity;
  - the legal enactment of effective incentives of various types, including in the area of taxation;
  - systematic and active public support for education of sport volunteers;
  - measures to enhance societal recognition of the work of sport volunteers.

- Recognized that the results of the Presidency's Survey could inspire the policy of the Member States and the European Institutions in sport.
- Agreed on the necessity of permanent political support for non-profit organizations and voluntary work in sport and welcomed the Commission's study on volunteering in this context.
- Underlined the importance of including volunteering as one of the priority areas in possible preparatory actions for a future EU sport programme in 2010 and 2011, and of giving volunteering in sport a prominent place in European Year of Volunteering 2011.
