Current Position

PwC's Central Cluster Leader for Transfer Pricing
Member of PwC's Global TP leadership team
Partner in charge of PwC Belgium's International Tax and TP services

Experience & Responsibilities

Isabel Verlinden is a Brussels-based international tax partner heading up the Central Cluster Transfer Pricing (TP) practice of PwC (which includes Europe). She gathered first-hand knowledge of the TP challenges faced by companies operating across the globe based on over 20 years of experience working for PwC (and its legacy firms) in both Brussels and Washington, DC.

She assists clients with tax-optimized value chain transformations, dispute avoidance (such as advance pricing agreements) plus dispute resolution work as well as tax risk management and compliance (documentation).

She appears in Euromoney/International Tax Review's Guide to the World's Leading Transfer Pricing Advisors, the Guide to the World's Leading Tax Advisors and the Best of the Best Expert Guide, which identifies the top 25 best in the world by practice area, as elected by in-house counsel and peers. She is an active writer for international tax and business periodicals. She has (co-)authored over 90 articles and books to date. She actively contributes to thought leadership initiatives in the area of TP as a guest at Specialist Business Expert Group Meetings at the OECD.

She teaches transfer pricing and/or intangibles planning in the academic world, is a regular speaker at seminars and conferences and runs transfer pricing sessions at international training courses within PwC.
