3. Injuries severity

Several member states have already started the process to have data on road injuries with the new definition, having data from hospitals could take quite a long time due to different problems, as for example inability of national database, not use of international codification of disseises or problems links to privacy or confidentiality. Most of the countries expressed the opinion that link hospitals and police data would be a very difficult task and in some cases impossible. The Commission advices using hospital data and encourage the linking when possible.
