Activity Report

MEETING on 6 September 2016 (CLEG-BR): The meeting followed-up on the previous discussions concerning the payment solution for the Business Registers Interconnection System (BRIS). The general set-up for the payment solution was agreed except for an open point that still needs clarification with one of the Member States. Further details will have to be collected from the Member States concerning invoicing and VAT. The issue of refunds was also discussed as a general approach would have to be agreed between the BRIS stakeholders. The Commission also presented the high-level principles of the organisation of the helpdesk for support of future BRIS users.

Activity Report

MEETING on 7 June 2016 (CLEG-BR): The main topic for discussion was related to the payment solution for the Business Registers Interconnection System (BRIS). The Commission will have to contract a payment services provider to handle payments and a number of other related tasks. To this purpose, several issues have to be discussed and agreed with the Member States, such as the way in which requests for refund would be handled or the issuance of an invoice for the end-user. Participants also discussed the possible solution for dealing with Article 5(a)(5) of Directive 89/666 and exchanged views on the procedures that Member States may put in place at national level after receiving a notification via BRIS.

Activity Report

MEETING on 22 April 2016 (CLEG-BR) : The Commission provided an update on the technical work carried out in the past months for the Business Registers Interconnection System (BRIS). A discussion took place on various aspects of the payment solution that needs to be implemented for BRIS. The Commission is still looking into the requirements for having a single payment solution for the users of the e-Justice portal. The Commission also addressed two technical aspects related to the implementation of the European Unique Identifier (EUID) for companies and Member States presented their view on the way forward. The Commission informed about the on-going work on the security requirements for BRIS.

Activity Report

MEETING on 24 February 2016: The Commission presented eIDAS Regulation 910/214 on electronic identification and trust services for electronic transactions in the internal market and an update on the project of digitalisation of company law and corporate governance, including that an initiative on making digital solutions available throughout a company's lifecycle was announced by the Single Market Strategy for 2017. It also thanked Member States for written contributions on digitalisation provided following the previous CLEG meeting. Many participants shared positive experiences and examples as regards digitalisation at national level. The Commission provided a brief update on its work in the area of cross-border operations of companies, including that an initiative on cross-border mergers and divisions was announced in the Single Market Strategy for 2017. In this respect the Commission thanked Member States for information on divisions that they had provided following the last CLEG meeting. The Commission informed briefly on the ongoing progress of the codification of the company law directives, on the ongoing public consultation on long-term and sustainable investment, on the upcoming reports related to corporate governance under the Capital Requirements Directive (CRD IV) and on the ongoing work in the area of insolvency law.

Activity Report

MEETING on 20 March 2015: The Commission presented a preliminary summary of responses to the public consultation on cross-border mergers and divisions. It then invited Member States to present their initial feedback on an informal non-paper concerning the digitisation of company law. Many participants welcomed the non-paper and agreed that certain aspects of company law could better benefit of technical solutions, including at EU level. The Commission informed that it was planning to work on a report concerning responsible investment, which would first be preceded by a public consultation. It also reminded Member States to inform the Commission on national developments concerning the quality of corporate governance reporting. Following the publication of a study on employee financial participation, Member States shared some of their experiences with EFP.

MEETING on 10 December 2014 (CLEG-BR): Meeting dedicated to the implementation of the Directive 2012/17/EU on the interconnection of business registers. The meeting started with a discussion on the possible approach to the payment solution for Business Registers Interconnection System (BRIS). It focused mainly on the relationships between each register and the payment service provider. The Commission then informed that it will circulate templates for gathering information necessary to identify the business registers as part of the future unique identifier for companies. This was followed by a discussion on how to address the situation of branches currently registered in the business registers in view of implementation of the branch disclosure notification. The Commission also gave an update on the result of additional assessment of one of the initiatives considered for reuse in the context of BRIS. The meeting concluded with a discussion on a revised governance structure for BRIS and information on upcoming technical workshops for the establishment of BRIS.

Activity Report

MEETING on 30 September 2014: The Commission presented an overview of the initiatives that followed the 2012 Action plan on company law and corporate governance. These initiatives included a number of legislative proposals which are already finalised or still on-going, for example the proposals for a revision of the Shareholders Rights Directive or the Single Member Company Directive. The Commission asked for Member States input on another issue highlighted by the Action plan, i.e. cross-border mergers and divisions, in which context it also encouraged them to take part in the recently launched consultation. Comments mainly related to divisions, on which Member States noted that the number of domestic or cross-border divisions is relatively low. Concerning the groups of companies, Member States were invited to provide answers to a short questionnaire on possible initiative looking into increased transparency on groups and/or the concept of 'group interest'. Member States welcomed the Commission draft summary of replies to a questionnaire on national derogations from the mandatory bid rule under directive 2004/25/EC. The summary provides for a very useful overview of practices in the Member States in relation to such derogations.

MEETING on 24 September 2014 (CLEG-BR): Meeting dedicated to the implementation of the Directive 2012/17/EU on the interconnection of business registers. The Commission gave an update on the technical work carried out since the previous meeting, for example the completion of a reusability study on existing IT assets that could be considered for reuse when setting up the system of interconnection of business registers (BRIS). Member States provided feedback on a discussion paper covering various technical specifications and procedures for the future system. The main comments focused on IT security standards, format of the unique identifier for companies or the requirements for system availability. Another point of discussion referred to the payment solution for BRIS. The Commission informed that it would be possible to have a centralised solution however details are still to be agreed on, for example, how to deal with the transaction fees. The meeting ended with a presentation of next steps and remarks on the first transposition phase.

Activity Report

MEETING on 8 April 2014 (CLEG-BR): Fifth meeting dedicated to the implementation of the Directive 2012/17/EU on the interconnection of business registers. Following feedback from the Member States on the draft Vision document for the Business Registers Interconnection System (BRIS), the Commission has revised the high-level architecture for BRIS and has submitted for discussion a new technical scenario for the system. Although a large number of Member States supported the original proposal from the Commission, the revised scenario offered a wider basis for consensus among the Member States. The meeting included an information point on the on-going study on reusable building blocks and a presentation on non-functional requirements for BRIS. Another point of discussion referred to a number of tasks that Member States will need to undertake in view of the future implementation of BRIS.

Activity Report

MEETING on 29 January 2014 (CLEG-BR): Fourth meeting dedicated to the implementation of the Directive 2012/17/EU on the interconnection of business registers. The Commission invited the Member States to express their opinion on the draft Vision document for the Business Registers Interconnection System (BRIS). This document recommends a high-level architecture for BRIS, and endorsement of this architecture is necessary in order to make progress with further technical decisions. While many Member States supported the proposed solution, a number of them (e.g. Italy, France) expressed concerns or disagreement with it. The Commission also gathered feedback on the proposed content for branch disclosure and cross-border notifications. Member States made useful suggestions which will be taken into account for the future implementing act. The Commission also introduced several options for expressing the unique identifier for companies and branches (EUID) and asked the Member States to send their feedback on those options after the meeting.

Activity Report

MEETING on 18 November 2013: The Commission informed that it recently published an external study on the application of the cross-border mergers directive. The study concludes that the directive, adopted in 2005, was step forward towards a more robust internal market, and identifies a number of remaining problems such procedural issues. The meeting continues with a discussion on a paper outlining first ideas on a possible initiative concerning single-member companies. Member States raised that point that any such initiative should indeed help SMEs to do business cross-border. Other topics included a presentation on ESMA public statement ESMA on the issue of "Acting in concert" and the Commission Green Paper on Long-term financing – with focus on corporate governance. The Commission also informed about the latest Corporate Governance Principles adopted by the OECD which represent one of the most important international standard in the area of corporate governance.
