

The opinions expressed in the studies are those of the consultant and do not necessarily represent the position of the Commission.

ROSAT

Road Accident Independant Investigations

Project details
Domain	Accidentology
Duration	from 1/07/2004 until 31/07/2006
Website
Other sources	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Official Journal of the European Union: COMMISSION DECISION of 11 June 2003: setting up a group of experts to advise the Commission on a strategy for dealing with accidents in the transport sector Official Journal of the European Union: Appointment of members of the Group of Experts to advise the Commission on a strategy for dealing with accidents in the transport sector ROSAT final report of the group (88,2 kB) Recommendations on methodology issues (52,1 kB) ROSAT report (488 kB) Presentation by Lars-Göran Löwenadler, Transport Forum 2007, Linköping, 10-11 January 2007 (in Swedish) (1,49 MB) presentation by Jesus Monclus at the "SafetyNet" workshop, 27 March 2007 (in English) (1,29 MB)

In 2004 the European Commission set up a group of 12 experts to assist it in defining its strategy in transport accident investigations. Among its tasks this group has issued recommendations on methodology issues - which are common to all modes of transport - and recommendations on road accident investigations ("ROSAT").

This project is closely linked with the 4th work package of the SafetyNet RTD project.

Coordinator

- None

Partners

- None