Comments to „Fitting blind spot mirrors to existing trucks“

From my point of view it is a very good approach and the benefits will outweigh the costs.

As it has been mentioned already, it is important, that alternative solutions will be allowed also.

Specially the video-camera based solutions may have a big potential, because of the positive impact on fuel consumption (compared to mirrors) and the fact, that these solutions do not create new blind spots by themselves. A mirror creates new blind spots in the direct field of view.

with best regards
