THE EU PLATFORM ON ANTIMICROBIAL RESISTANCE

AMR One Health Network (OHN)

Antimicrobial resistance (AMR) - the ability of microorganisms to resist antimicrobial treatments, especially antibiotics – has a direct impact on human and animal health and carries a heavy economic burden due to higher costs of treatments and reduced productivity caused by sickness. AMR is responsible for an estimated 33,000 deaths per year in the EU. It is also estimated that AMR costs the EU €1.5 billion per year in healthcare costs and productivity losses.

The EU Platform on Antimicrobial Resistance is an interactive network, which aims at promoting dialogue among competent authorities, businesses, civil society organisations and scientists on AMR issues that are relevant for the Union.

This dialogue intends to build mutual understanding, foster trust and encourage voluntary commitments between Platform members to achieve concrete results in improving the antimicrobial resistance. The Platform therefore relies on the contribution of each of its members, hence the motto "Everyone is responsible".

The Digital Tool of the EU Platform on Antimicrobial Resistance that you are currently browsing is an online space specifically designed and restricted for Platform members, providing them with a co-working instrument.

For a proper use of the Digital Tool, please read the Terms and Conditions
