The safe preservation of digital information is more important than ever. As digital technology evolves, organisations need to migrate their data across different generations of software to preserve it over time, in data repositories and archives they can trust.

The CEF eArchiving Building Block provides specifications, reference software, training and service desk support for digital archiving and preservation.

Grant funding from the CEF Telecom programme, administered by the Innovation and Networks Executive Agency (INEA), was made available annually to support the uptake of CEF eArchiving in Europe.

Calls for proposals is currently closed. More info on the INEA website
