

Disclaimer :

The Competition DG makes the information provided by the notifying parties in section 1.2 of Form CO available to the public in order to increase transparency. This information has been prepared by the notifying parties under their sole responsibility, and its content in no way prejudices the view the Commission may take of the planned operation. Nor can the Commission be held responsible for any incorrect or misleading information contained therein.

M.8994 – MICROSOFT / GITHUB

SECTION 1.2

Description of the concentration

The notification concerns Microsoft's proposed acquisition of sole control over GitHub.

The business activities of the parties are:

Microsoft. Microsoft Corporation is a company based in Redmond, Washington, U.S.A. that offers a wide range of products and services to customers through the following business divisions: Productivity and Business Processes covering e.g., Office 365 and Dynamics; Intelligent Cloud covering e.g., Windows Server, Microsoft SQL Server, Visual Studio and Azure; and More Personal Computing covering products such as Windows OS, devices and gaming products and online advertising. Microsoft's offering includes various software development and operations ("DevOps") tools, including version control software, code editors, and Integrated Development Environments ("IDEs"). Microsoft also offers recruiting and professional social network services via LinkedIn.

GitHub. GitHub Inc. is a company based in San Francisco, California, U.S.A. that offers version control software for use online (as a service) and on-premises, as well as certain DevOps tools, including the open source Atom code editor/IDE. Developers use GitHub to collaborate on and manage source code development for open source software and proprietary applications. GitHub also offers a job listing service.