In Berlin Tech All Stars teams up with Angelsbootcamp to mingle with an array of important entrepreneurs, investors and experts from the startup scene across Europe such as Brigitte Baumann and Christian Nagel. The program takes the participants to a live Term Sheet Battle where they witness a live negotiation between VC and entrepreneur. The participants will get behind the scenes with established startups Wooga and Twago. Networking brunches and lunches will take place at historical landmarks such as the 'Fernsehturm' and 'Historischer Frühstückssaal' where Charlie Chaplin once started his day.

After the jam packed startup experience of Berlin the TAS participants will meet and pitch to the angels of Angelsbootcamp. The three startups that impress most will each receive €10,000.00 in Amazon Web Service credit and be flown to next stop - the Founders Forum to present their startups at the most influential pitching event in Europe as part of the Talent Track. The winner selected at the Founders Forum is presented with an award by Commissioner Kroes and is whisked to the final destination - the Digital Agenda Assembly in Dublin.

TechAllStars was launched by the European Commission as part of the Startup Europe [13] initiative of the Digital Agenda, which aims to help tech entrepreneurs start, maintain and grow their businesses in Europe.

TechAllStars was also made possible by partnering sponsor Liberty Global Ventures [14], a global investment fund owned by the leading international cable company Liberty Global with operations in 13 countries, 20 million customers and consumer brands including UPC, Unitymedia, Kabel BW and Telenet. Liberty Global Ventures has unique access to investment opportunities through Liberty Global's international presence and the ability to leverage operating resources within every aspect of the investment life cycle.

The program runs from the 7th until the 19th of June 2013
