In the context of the Global Internet Policy Observatory ^[1] (GIPO) initiative, the European Commission will launch soon a call for tenders for a service contract of a maximum value of EUR 50,000.

The purpose of this call for tenders is to develop a feasibility study which will provide:

- an assessment of the technological requirements and available tools, to develop an online platform that would automatically collect and analyse information on Internet-related policy-making processes, as well as
- a set of recommendations on the best "internal governance framework" for such platform in order to ensure the maximum levels of transparency, accountability, independence and inclusivity.

In addition, the successful contractor will be expected to provide:

- an online website, accessible to the Commission's services and to any other party the Commission might wish to grant access to, which will be used by the Contractor to set-up "live" demonstration versions of a limited number of technological tools analysed.

The feasibility study is expected to last for a maximum duration of 4 months.

Interested economic operators can express their interest to participate in the call for tender until 2 September 2013, in writing, by sending an e-mail to:

- CNECT-D1@ec.europa.eu ^[2] and Andrea.Glorioso@ec.europa.eu ^[3].

For clarity, the contracting authority will distribute the text of the call for tenders after 2 September 2013 and only to the economic operators which will have expressed their interest (as above) and to other economic operators as it deems appropriate, pursuant to the above-mentioned Rules of Application of the Financial Regulation.
