Trust and Security Clustering Open Communications

EFFECTSPPLUS organises this open communications event to provide information on the Trust and Security project clustering activities upcoming in 2013, in particular for the second edition of the CSP Forum to be held on 16-17 April 2013 in Brussels. It will also provide an opportunity to link with newly funded trust and security research projects (call 8) and hear about potential opportunities for new collaborations. Finally, it will provide on-going projects with a valuable opportunity to provide feedback on previous clustering activities and voice their opinion on future potential topical workshops of interest they would deem useful for the trust and security clustering community.
