

Digital Single Market

Smart waste report

Reports and studies 12/11/2012

The report describes the impact that a large deployment of Radio Frequency Identification Tags (RFID) can have on the environment.

It analyses the waste that RFID creates itself and estimates the impact that RFID can have on reducing waste by: enhancing the efficiency of recycling, better control of the supply chain and more efficient processes, such as maintenance and product recall operations.

Share this page

Source URL: <https://ec.europa.eu/digital-single-market/en/news/smart-waste-report>