SI/EU: epSOS project - Slovenia to be included in the exchange of test data in 2012

The Slovenian Ministry of Health and the National Institute of Public Health are cooperating in 'Smart Open Services for European Patients' (epSOS), the main European electronic health (eHealth) interoperability project co-funded by the European Commission and partner countries. Slovenia will be among the countries involved in the exchange of test data in 2012, which is foreseen to take place initially with Austria and Slovakia.
