eHealth: Experts attempt to create legal clarity

During eHealth Week 2013 in Dublin (13-15/5) the European Commission is organizing a workshop on legal issues surrounding cross-border eHealth deployment.

This session aims to be a follow-up to the "Staff Working Document on the existing EU legal framework applicable to Telemedicine services" and discuss the remaining legal issues impeding eHealth deployment across borders.

It will be structured around 3 topics: medical liability, the review of the data protection directive and the recognition of healthcare professional qualifications.

The medical liability issue will be presented by one of the authors of the "Study on the legal framework towards interoperable eHealth", while the data protection review will be explained by a legal expert from the German Ministry of Health.

A representative from the industry (Continua) will present the EU legal provisions ensuring the recognition of healthcare professionals qualifications.

All the presentations will then be followed by a brainstorming session with the audience to identify possible solutions and options to improve the legal framework of eHealth in Europe.

The programme:
