The Carer+ Digital Competence Framework: mapping and developing carers' skills

The Carer+ consortium is currently finalising research that will lead to the creation of the Carer+ Digital Competence Framework that will provide care workers and caregivers with a reference tool that will help them assess their digital competence and plan their further development in an organised and outcome-oriented way. Using the framework, the caregiver will be able to tell what knowledge and skills he/she currently possesses, on what levels of mastery, and where best to aim further learning. Schools, teachers and trainers can make good use of the framework as well by structuring and facilitating their courses' plans and objectives. It can also help employers to plan their staff's professional development. The tool will be finalised in the first quarter of 2013 and published in a wiki environment in the Carer+ Portal for all interested stakeholders to use, review and comment.
