Who is Europe's Tech Entrepreneur of The Year?

In December, The European Commission announced a new initiative to identify and celebrate Europe's most innovative and influential tech entrepreneurs. Today marks the beginning of the nomination procedure to narrow down a handful of Europe's finest entrepreneurs in tech, web and mobile).

The European Commission chose to partner with one of the world's leading technology news brands, The Next Web, for the Europioneers awards.

The European Commission and The Next Web are convinced that entrepreneurs, particularly in the web and tech sector, can now transform economies, drive innovation and indeed, change communities and industries. This event is a celebration of Europe's most influential and innovative entrepreneurs who have genuinely helped support that. Giving top entrepreneurs visibility on a national, regional and global scale.
